THE ANSWER GIVEN.

THE QUESTIONS PROPOUNDED BY

AGITATING MEMBERS OF CONGRESS

ntative Oates, of Alabama, Declin to Assent to Them, and States His Reasons, in Full.

Washington, April 14.- [Special.]—The farmers' alliance questions are having as much effect upon the average southern congressman as a liawk in a hen roost.

Indeed, they are fluttering and fuming in delirium as to how they shall answer them. A few have already received the questions. To the majority, however, they have not

Colonel Oats, of Alabama, with his usual nerve, today blazed the way for the more timid congressmen. He has answered the questions, and he has not hesitated to express his views just as they are, To the sub-treasury scheme for the establish-ment of a warehouse in each county in the United States in which the farmer may deposit his non-perishable products, and borrow eighty per cent of their value from the government in greenbacks to be issued for the purpose, and at one per cent interest, he is opposed, and so expresses himself in unmistakable terms. As to the St. Louis convention resolutions, he says he had no copies of them, or he would answer. remembers to have read them, and says some he approves and some he does not approve.

THE SUB-TREASURY PLAN DISCUSSED. As to the sub-treasury plan, he says two bills to that effect have been introduced in congress, both by request. Then he writes to the Farmers' Alliance association of his district, which association recently sent him their questions as to the sub-treasury and other schemes, to be answered before they can support him for re-election. Here is what he says: Each bill provides for a loan of money by the government of the United States on warehous receipts, and without discussing the details of either, I tell you in all candor, that I can't conscientionally vote for either of said bills, for the reason that the government of the United States has no power under the constitution to loan money, under any circumstances. Section 8 of article liof the constitution dec ares. 1. That congress shall have power to levy and collect taxes, duties, imports and exports to pay the debt, etc. 2. To borrow money on the credit of the United among the several states, etc.

"Then there follows twenty-five other grants of power which cover the whole field of powers granted, and not one of which, even by inference or strained construction, authorize the United States to loan money. I have taken an oath to support the constitution, and cannot support these measures without violating it.
If either of the bills should pass, which I tell you is impossible, it is presumed that the president would veto it, and if he did not the supreme court would be bound to declare it un-constitutional and void. I think I could show other objections to the scheme in the matter of the multiplication of federal offices, and the impracticability of it, and the issuance of un limited "greenbacks" until they would be worth but little more than confederate money during the war.

But it is unnecessary for me to discuss these matters, as I am confronted by the constitutional question at the very threshold, and cannot go any further. "I have never known a democrat worthy of the name who did not favor an observance of the constitution as our fathers made it. If democracy does not mean this it is no better than republicanism. The evils which cause the present depression of the farming industry of the country cannot be met and overcome by any such measure as that proposed by the subtreasury and warehouse bills. No. these evils insiduous over-taxation, the combination of monopolies and trusts, and partial or class leg-

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.
"The union between the Farmers' Alliance and the Union Laborers' association in my judgment, was an unfortunate one for the southern farmer. The Knights of Labor congress in behalf of class legislation. They insist on a law that all government employes shall work but eight hours for a full day's pay, and that they shall have from fifteen to thirty days in the leave of absence with full pay The farmer has to work ten or twelve hours to make one-half as much, and frequently not one-third as much per day as the government, employe makes, and if the farmer takes any leave of absence to enjoy a rest he is not paid wages for that time, and let him remember that the wages paid from the treasury are taken largely from him in tack s These labor organizations are all the time besieging congress for more pay and higher wages. Last winter the Knights of Labor had such an influence over congress, and so exercised it that they made the bureau of printing and engraving for the government set aside and abandon the use of a lot of labor saving machines to make room for two hundred more laborers to do the work by hand at $4 per day each. That money is taken from you in part by taxation. There are numerous instances, but I Ite these merely for illustration.

A BLOW AT THE FARMERS.

"A large percentage of the profits which the can realize for seed. Refined cotton seed oil is clean, pure and wholesome, and is now largely used in compounding with lard, which makes a cheaper and more wholesome article than the pure hog lard. A bill is now pending in the house, and favorably reported, to impose a tax, although the government does not need the revenue, on compound lard to discriminate against it in favor of hog lard. This is directly, to the full extent of the tax, a burden on the cotton producer, just in the same way that a tax on cotton ties is a burden. Yet the Knights of La-bor have, in their grand council, recommended the passage of this bill, I am in favor of requiring the manufacturers of articles or interstate commerce to brand their goods, showing just what they are, but I will never rote to discriminate in favor of one industry against another. The principle is vicious. The whole financial problem, applicable alike to nations, states and individuals, consist in the proper understanding of interest and economy of expenditure. If a man's annual expenditures in the aggregate are less than hi income, and if interest runs at all, let it run to him and not from him, and he is prospero and happy. But let his expenditures exceed his income to any extent, and interest runs against him, however low the rate, and he is on be avoided, should be the motto of every farmer. The United States owes fourteen hundred millions of dollars, borrowed during the war, on which they are paying forty-eight millions of dollars each year for interest. The rate paid on the main bulk of it is 4 per cent. So, if it were constitutional to loan money, it could not be done without loss for less than the United States pays, with an addition for printing, for the salary of officials, additional public buildings, etc., so that such loans as the pending bills contemplate could not be made for less than 6 per cent. Unfortunately, some of our farmers have so long indulged in the bad practice of borrowing that they are now con to have recourse to it to some extent. If such are oppressed by the exactions of usury by private lenders, the proper remedy for this is in the hands of your own legislature. You can change the law so as to make the taker of usury forfeit and lose the entire debt. Such was the law once in the state of New York, and it was sustained by the courts."

AGAINST NATIONAL BANKS.

"I do not believe that any more national bank charters ought to be granted or those in existance extended, which, of course gradually retire that system. The banks are, by law of congress, allowed to take no more interest for the use of money than the law of the state in which they are located makes lawful, nor can they withdraw from circulation more than two million per month. The gradual extinction of the banks, as I have sug would make the volume of circulation less unless a substitute is provided. I think the present volume of currency, which is something less than fifteen hundred million dollars, ought to be increased and money made more plentiful The business of the country requires it. To effect that end I am in favor of the free coinage of silver, and will vote for it this session.

I am also in favor of the issuance of coin or bullion certificates on both gold and silver deposits, with the treasurer. Such cirtificates may be made to take the place of national bank notes, and will afford the best currency in the world. I am in favor of relieving the farmer on the Andrew Jackson Stop taking their substance by unnec essary taxation, and leave that which is un necessary for the government in the pockets

I am opposed to subsidies and aids from the treasury to corporations, to which the farmers have to contribute in taxation. The distressed farmers seek partial relief by praying congress to distribute money more liberally and in larger pensions. The annual expenditure from the treasury in payment of pensions for the present year is over one hundred millions of dollars. The people of the late seceding southern states pay about one-third of all that reaches the treasury. They, therefore contribute every year to this pen-sion fund about thirty-three millions. Not exceeding one million of this sum is distributed for pensions in those states. Therefore there is an annual drainage of thirty-two million dollars from the people of these eleven states, which is distributed among the people of the northern and western states. Southern representatives in congress, even if united against this, are powerless to prevent it. Unfortunately some of our distinguished senators and representatives vote for and encourage these pension appropriations. I never have and never will."

Rain Fell in Torrents. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., April 14.-The most unusual fall of rain yesterday raised the streams out of their banks, carrying away many bridges on country roads. In this city four inches of rain fell in less than an hour. There was a remarkable fall of hail stones, as large as hickory and walnuts. The storm in south Bloomington seems to have been even more severe than here. Glass in greenhouses in the city were demolished by the hail. At Minier, seventeen miles west, nearly every glass in town was broken. The country between Minier and here was deluged and considerable injury done to the Chicago and Alton track. Piles of ties floated away, and many lodged on the and that depression result from the burdens of rails. Young wheat and garden vegetables

One of the most severe wind storms, accompanied by rain and hail, visited Covington, Ind., yesterday afternoon. Hail stones as large as walnuts covered the ground the depth of about 41 inches. window lights were demolished, and considerable damage was done to growing crops. The heaviest rain storm ever known at Kankakee, fell yesterday afternoon. The storm was general throughout eastern Illinois, accompanied by hail and a brilliant electric dis play. For half an hour the rain fell so rapidly that the streets overflowed. The storm will put farmers behind in their work for some ime, as well as injure the grain now in. A very heavy fall of rain, accompanied by ail, reached Pekin, Ill., yesterday afternoon. The water fell in torrents, flooding the streets and many store cellars. Hail fell as large as walnuts, damaging trees that are advanced.

SILVER SHEKELS.

AN AGREEMENT ABOUT REACHED ON SILVER COINAGE.

WINDOM BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

sion-Notes Redeemable Either in Bullion or Coin.

WASHINGTON, April 14.-Members of the use caucus silver committee had a two general disposition to reach some kind of an agreement and a spirit of concession characte ized the entire proceedings. As a result, when the recess was taken the indications were that the members had at last found a common ground, and that they will be ready very shortly to agree upon a formal proposition, ac-ceptable to themselves at least, although further modifications may have to be made to meet the views of the republican senators.

The basis of agreement will be the Windom bill as it emerged from the house committee on coinage, with the additions of a few provisions intended to meet the views of the silver men. It will probably provide for unlimited purchases of bullion produced in the United States at the market price not to exceed a dollar for 3711 grains, and when that price is reached there is to be free coinage. Treasury notes issued in payment for silver are to be redeemable in bullion or coin. At present this proposition has not been formally adopted, and the committee will have anothe meeting this afternoon, when it is expected Secretary Windom will be again called upon

Secretary windom win be again cancer apartor to state his views.

A meeting of the republican senatorial silver committee was held this morning, and at noon a recess was taken until 2 o'clock. The discussion at times was quite animated, but a spirit of compromise was shown.

SECRETARY WINDOM'S VIEWS. The afternoon session of the house comm tee lasted over two hours, and there was a very full discussion of the entire subject. Secretary Windom was present for a part of the time, but contented himself with a reiteration time, but contented himself with a reiteration of his well known views on the subject. He would not abate his opposition to the plan to make treasury notes issued in the purchase of silver redeemable in anything else than silver bullion, but having carefully discussed this matter, the committee decided to incorporate in the bill a provision allowing their redemption in bullion or coin, at the option of the purchaser.

So the committee finally reached the agreement above outlined, and will meet the senate committee tomorrow morning in joint confer-

THE SENATE COMMITTEE AGREES. The senate committee, after a session of an our and a half this afternoon, reached a conclusion. Three propositions were agreed to

1. That the secretary of the treasury shall buy $4,500,000 worth of silver bullion monthly, and issue notes in payment for the same, the notes to be redeemable in bullion or lawful notes to be redeemable in bullion or lawful money.

2. That national banks shall be allowed to issue notes to the full par value of the bonds deposited to secure their redemption which would add ten per cent to the value of national bank currency.

3. That the $100,000,000 retained by the treasury for the redemption of treasury notes be put into circulation.

It was postponed in order to induce the national banks to take out the additional temper cent of circulation, to abolish the tax now levied on bank circulation, but this was withdrawn.

rent carried the boat along so rapidly that he lost his head at the decisive moment and turned the wheel in the wrong direction. In his excitement he then tried to signal the engineer to stop, but instead he signaled go ahead, full speed. The boat struck the bridge and all the upper works and passengers were swept into the river. Many were rescued by small craft putting out from the shore, but some were lost. The number is believed to be seven, but as no bodies have as yet been recovered, it is impossible to say with any certainty. Some twelve or fifteen persons were slightly injured. The wheelman, firemen and engineer are under arrest. Captain Colson made his way ashore immediately after the accident, and has not yet been apprehended.

Corrupt Officials Arrested.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 14.—The result of the grand jury's two weeks' investigation of boodle charges were made evident this morning when bench warrants were issued for the arrest of Aldermen John F. McGowan and Fred Brueshaber, of the first ward, and City Clerk Charles F. Haney. The charges are bribery, or attempted bribery. The aldermen are accused of soliciting money for the location of streets, and the city clerk is alleged to have offered to a Chicago company to deliver twenty-five aldermanic votes for an asphalt paving contract if he was paid $7,000.

New York, April 14.—Futures made a pretty, smart advance in the first hour, this year's crop rising to 11.67@11.68 in response to decided improvement at Liverpool, where the strongest feature was the sale of 12,000 bales on spot, showing that English spinners will take cotton and pay the price for it, if they need it. Then the market became quiet. Receipts of 7,000 bales at the port checked the buying. The fine planting weather was another element of weakness. Later options (after July) were depressed by Butterworth's bill, taxing future dealings. Still the close was about steady. Cotton on spot was quiet.

the mother of Mrs. Bayard, had a royal reception here today. In the forencon they were taken to Fort Sumter in charge of the mayor and the committee of the Huguenot society.
At 1 p. m. they attended the meeting of the society, and later held a reception at the hotel, where hundreds of the first families called and were introduced to them. Tonight Mr. Bayard delivered an address at the Academy of Music, to an audience of over 2,000 of the elite of the city. He spoke for upwards of an hour and a half. In his address he alluded to the race problem in the south, and expressed the opinion that the question would sottle itself witnout interference on the part of the general government, which he deprecated. After the address the distinguished visitors were entertained at a

It is Probable That He Has Appeared His Last Time on the Stage.

CINCINNATI, O., April 14.—The Times-Star today says: It is not improbable that Lawrence Barrett will never again appear on the stage. Edwin Booth has received two letters from his old friend very recently, during his engagement in this city last week, clearly indicating that no work must be arranged for the next season at least, in the way of the combination of these two stars. The operation in Boston removed the large tumorous growth from Mr. Barrett's throat, but now comes the unwelcome news that a similar growth has developed in other portions of the body, and while Mr. Barrett's general health is not affected, these tumors make it impossible for him to appear on the stage. He holds a chaerful hope, however, of ultimate recovery.

THE SOUTHERN TRAVELERS.

The Pinance Committee Busy at Work for May Week.

The Atlanta branch of the Southern Trayeler's association will bring a great crowd to Atlanta during the big May week convention. The finance committee went to work with a vim yesterday, and a large amount of money was subscribed by leading merchants. It was a grand day's work, and will be followed by other days of equally successful soliciting. The committee is determined to raise the money, and has gone about it with unusual energy.

In time for May week the association expects to have its club rooms in shape, the finest in the southern states.

The association is in thorough working order now, and are pulling all altogether. In the matter of railway and hotel accommodations, livery stable rates, and other maters demanding attention, the committees have been very successful and are still at work.

Their success means the saving of money to Atlanta merchants, and the prosperity of the association should be a matter of personal concern to every business man in the city.

The drummers are working enthusiastically and with the general co-operation on the part of the merchants they will make May Week a monument to the business enterprise of Atlanta.

NEW EVIDENCE

WHICH CALLS FOR AN EXTRAORDI-NARY MOTION

TO RE-OPEN THE M'GREGOR TRIAL

One of the Witnessee Concludes to Tell all He Knows About the Case—A

WARRENTON, Ga., April 14.-[Special.]-

The McGregor-Cody case has been one of sen-sations, and there seems no end to them.

In addition to 'those already published during last week's trial, today brings forward two more. First, in forcing the adjournment of Hancock superior court until the fourth Monday in May, breaking up the session of that court after lawvers, jurors, witnesses and that court after lawyers, jurors, witnesses and all parties interested were assembled there, and tonight, in the unprecedented proposition of the defendant's counsel, to take the case away from the jury, after they have been deliberating on it for two days, and after the leading counsel on the other side have gone to their homes, and place before the jury newly discovered evidence of vital importance to the

HANCOCK COURT ADJOURNED. When Judge Lumpkin arrived this morning and questioned the jury they reported that no verdict had been reached. He then informed them that he should leave for Sparts at 2 o'clock and adjourn Hancock superior court, which, but for this case, would have opened this morning. He would then return here, and give this jury all the time it required to reach a verdict. When the jury retired to their room, Judge Lumpkin said he considered it specially important to Warren county that this tedious and expensive trial should not be thrown away by discharging the jury too soon. He didn't believe it possible to get another jury in the case in Warren county, though, of course, the effort would have to be made if a mistrial was had. The result would be that after sumi every juror in the county no jury would be se-cured, and the case would have to be removed would cost something like five thousand dol-lars. It was very important to this county, therefore, that a verdict should be reached if possible, and he meant to give the jury the amplest opportunity to agree.

Counsel on both sides agreed in this view, and requested that the jury be held accord-to another county. Warren county would have to pay for the trial in the other county, and it

Judge Lumpkin went to Sparta and adjourned that court this afternoon and returned

Rumor has not been idle, and the industrious dame has it that only one man on the jury is holding out against a verdict for acquital, that the other eleven have been ready to make a verdict at any time, but he votes persistently "guilty" on every ballot in the jury room.
Whether or not this is true, of course, no one outside of the jury room can positively affirm, but that is the rumor and the belief in the

Tonight the jury asked to hear the judge's charge again, and when they had taken their seats, and the judge was about to begin, the defense exploded a real live sensation in court. Mr. Whitehead said to the court that if they should wait until the jury had finished its deliberations, the defense would be too late to secure a hearing, but at this stage of the proceedings, they had a motion to make, which was of vital importance to their client.

The solicitor objected to any new matter being discussed in the presence of the jury, and the court ordered them to the jury room.

THE SENSATION EXPLODES Mr. Whitehead then disclosed the fact that Jack Swain, who had come to the aid of the state with material and very unexpected assistance, has not told all he knew that would He had occupied a very subarrassing position as McGregor's friend and Cody's relative. He had testified most hesitatingly and unwillingly. He had only told what he was directly asked about, and had volunteered nothing. about, and had volunteered nothing-since the jury had remained out so long and the question of McGregor's acquittal seemed to be increasing in doubt, he had re-pented of the fact that he had not told all he knew, as much as he hated to do so. In talk-ing this afternoon, he had asked if there was any possibility of McGregor's being convicted.

"There may be," was replied. "That will never do," said he, "McGreson nust not be convicted. I know evidence that rould acquit him, and which I didn't tell or

This was communicated to McGregor's counsel, and they learned from Swain the fol

"When Cody and I were in Gainesville, just before the last term (October) of Warren su-perior court, at which Jim Cody was to be tried for assault with intent to murder McGregor, Cody asked me if I was going to testify to what I knew against him. I told him I would certainly swear to the truth if put on the he answered.

"Of course you will," said I. "There is no possible help for it. You ought to plead guilty and throw yourself on the mercy of the court. With the influence in Warren and Gainesville that you could bring to bear, Governo Gordon would pardon you."

me for killing McGregor."

THE JUDGE WILL CONSIDER.

"This evidence is very important for the defense, and we move to introduce it now."

Solicitor Howard and Mr. Davis both urged the court to postpone argument on his decision on admitting this new testimony until Judge-Twiggs and Mr. Hal Lewis could be summoned to return to Warrenton. They had not and could not have expected any such development in the case, and had gone to the supreme court. They could be summoned back here by tomorrow, and as they were leading counsel for the prosecution, and had conducted the state's case, they ought to be here. If this new evidence was admitted it might require new evidence in rebuttal and new argument on both sides.

Judge Lampkin decided to wait until tomorrow, and give these lawyers a chance to get here.

LAGRANGE POSTOFFICE.

AN "ORIGINAL REPUBLICAN" AND

Two of the Chief Candidates For the Privi lege of Delivering Letters in the Pleas-ant Little City of LaGrange.

LAGRANGE, Ga., April 14 .- [Special.]-The question, who will be our postmaster under the republican administration, has been one of deep interest to our people, many having feared that we would be treated like unfortunate Athens, Americus, Hogansville, and other places. LaGrange had a negro post-master under Arthur's administration, and it is perfectly natural that our people should be apprehensive that Harrison would appoint

A MULTITUDE OF APPLICANTS. There are fourteen or fifteen applicants for the place and among these are two or three negroes. Mr. Young A. Gresham, of this city, who claims to have "been a republican from birth," is one of the applicants. Mr. Gresham is an employe of the First National bank, and stands well in the community. He has been indorsed by many of our business men for the office, and at one time his chances seemed to be very good.

But a cloud has appeared upon the horizon of histhopes and ambitions, and it is not so generally conceded now that success will perch upon his banner. A LADY SEEKS THE PLACE.

On Thursday evening Colonel Dan Locke, postmaster at Macon, and Captain W. W. Brown, who formerly held the same position, came to LaGrange for the purpose of ascertaining the wishes of our people in regard to a new postmaster. They were accompanied by Mr. Laird, of Washington, D. C., and their visit was made to know if the daughter of the latter, Miss Stella Laird, would be acceptable to our people as postmistress. They said that if our people would signify their willingness to accept her as such that she would be appointed. They had been so assured from head-quarters. Miss Laird is represented as being a young lady of high accomplishments, a native of Henry county, Ala., and it is said she is thoroughly qualified for the office. Colonel Locke and Captain Brown tried to get Mr. Gresham to step down and out of the race and let the lady win. They appealed to his gallantry, but Gresham plead that he had been chrused, ostra-cised and thoroughly abused by some of our people on account of his having "been a republican from birth," and furthermore that he had been to some expense in holding the party together in Troup county. He considered his chance good for the appointment, and decided to hold on to that chance for all it was worth. WILLING TO ACCEPT THE LADY.

Several of our leading citizens were very favorably impressed with what they had been told of Miss Laird, and would have signed a petition for her appoint-ment, but they had previously indorsed Gresham, and would not sign a petition for anyone else unless they were assured that he stood no showing for the place. The above gentlemen stated that they were not in a position to say that Gresham could not be ap-

ANOTHER POSSIBLE CANDIDATE. During the day Curtis Beall, of Hamilton who served here as postmaster under Arthur's administration, appeared in town, and the rumor started that if Miss Laird could not get the appointment rhat he would be urged for the place. But this was only a rumor, and your correspondent was assured by the above gentlemen that this was not true-and, in fact, Beall denied that he was an applicant.

THE OUTCOME UNCERTAIN. It is not yet known what will be the outcome THE CONSTITUTION kept on the inside track during the visit of these republicans, and learned that Gresham will not be appointed; Miss Laird probably will be, though it is not yet certain; if she is not, then one of the other applicants will get the coveted prize.

Mr. Gresham is not known as a republican in the party to which he claims allegiance, he has "been a republican from birth," and for that reason he will not be postnaster at LaGrange.

Messrs. Locke, Brown and Laird have left for their homes, and LaGrange anxiously awaits the developments which will soon take

A Macon Drummer Takes an Overdose of Medicine and Was in Danger.

MACON, Ga., April 14.-[Special.]-For a while this morning the condition of one of Macon's most popular drummers, Mr. T. L.

Lester, representing H. J. Lamar & Co., was thought to be decidedly precarious.

Mr. Lester boarded a Georgia Southern passenger train at Lake City last night and immediately upon entering the car went to his berth. He complained of being sick and before retiring took a dose of medicine. It is supposed he got an overdose, for when the porter went to move him this morning he seemed to be unconscious, and upon the ing he seemed to be unconscious, and upon the arrival of the train in Macon the efforts of three physicians were almost baffled in trying to awaken him, but by about one hour's hard work he was brought around all right and carried to his home in the

The Southern Cadets Will Be Very Apt to Attend the Great Drill.

MACON, Ga., April 14.—[Special.]—Today it seems to be a positive fact that the Southern Cadets will enter the great drill at Kansas City, which will continue for eight days, from June 2d to 9th inclusive. It apevident that the citizens ibe the necessary funds sensoring the necessary funds to set up United States army judges each time. It is thought in Macon that the Rifles may go into camp and practice to drill at some church fostival, in the event they desire to enter the Kansas City drill. ATHENS, Ga., April 14—[Special.]—The Murray-Ridgeway affair came very near lawing a bad culmination today. Since the first words have passed between Messrs. Ridgeway and Murray concerning the negro gauger's appointment and W. A. Pledger's case of blackmail, there has not been the temferest feeling between the two. Today was the opening of court week here, and Mr. Ridgeway was in town. During the day when down town, Mr. Murray came across him, and at once asked him concerning his denial of the fact that Pledger had promised to secure him a white gauger for fifty dollars. Mr. Ridgeway said he had denied the statement. Murray then told him that he respected his he had denied the statement. Murray then told him that he respected his gray hairs and old age, but that if he made such a statement he was guilty of a deliberate falsehood. Mr. Ridgeway retorted that Murray was a liar himself. Murray then told him that he didn't care to bandy words with him, that he was an infamous liar, and that if he would step out into the street he would whip him. Ridgeway didn't shrink at all, but started at Murray. At this juncture friends intervened to stop the fuss, and thus prevented what might have been a serious fracas. The end of the Murray expose is not yet.

Accidentally Shot While Out Hunting at Dallas.

Dallas.

Dallas, Ga., April 14.—[Special.]—Clarence, the nine-year-old son of Colonel George P. Roberts, was accidentally shot while out with his father hunting this evening. The accident occurred about two miles from town. He was taken to a neighbor's house near by, where he is being properly cared for, they having decided not to bring him home at present. He was standing on a log, holding the gun, and it is supposed to have slipped out of his hand. Striking the log, it was discharged, the contents taking effect and partially tearing off the right shoulder. At a late hour tonight the child died.

The Knights Templar to Be Entertained, ROME, Ga., April 15 .- [Special.]-The la dies are making special preparations to assist in entertaining the visiting knights and ladies expected here this week. One of the notable events promised on the programme of recep-tions will be a high tea tendered by Mrs. John J. Seay, at the handsome residence of Captain Seay, on Second avenue. This will be on Wednesday afternoon, and will be for the visi-ting ladies and resident ladies who are aiding in the social entertainment.

"Falka" at the Opera House Last Night. The MacCollin Opera company began a week's engagement at the opera house last night to an overwhelming audience, presenting Chassaign's charming opera Falka. The company is decidedly the best comic opera organization that has ever appeared in Atlanta.

Falka overflows with beautiful airs and catchy choruses. The fun is fast and furious, and kept the audience in a continual roar. Miss Fannie D. the audience in a continual roar. Miss Fannie D. Hall, as Falka, was exceptionally good. She acted and sang the part splendidly. Miss Lawrence the Edwige of the cast, has an excellent voice and beautifully cultivated, and created much enthusiasm. Her rendition of the stacato polks in the third act, was grand. Miss Broche, as Alexina, Miss Maud Snith as Konrad, Miss Kitty Holden as Janotha, were very clever. The fun was furnished by Mr. A. W. F. MacCollin as the governor, and by E. P. Smith as Little Brother Pelican. The latter caught the house by his excellent rendition of the convent gate keeper. Mr. Apple as Arthur has a very fine tenor voice which he uses to excellent advantage. The balance of the company filled their roles acceptably. The chorus is large, strong and well drilled. The performace is above the average of those given by comic opera organizations and deserves full houses the balance of the week. Tonight the ever-popular Mascotte and at the matinee the Mikado.

Concerning a Newspaper Controversy, Which Grows Red Hot.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: Having published in your Sunday's issue an article from the Albany News and Advertiser of recent date in regard to myself, I send you a copy of my answer to it, which appeared yesterday, that you may give it equal publicity if you will. I have treated the whole matter with tolerant contempt, but whole matter with tolerant contempt, but since your paper goes to many who do not know me, I deem it proper to brand as an absolute and infamous falsehood any statement or alleged rumor that I was ever horsewhipped or whipped in any way; nor does it seem probable at present that I shall be, notwithstanding the childish threats of this new Ransey Sniffles, made at the safe distance of one hundred and sixty miles. This being the case, the whole article of our Albany contemporary must be viewed in the same light. There can be no personal controversy between the editor of the News and Advertiser and myself.

"A RETRACTION."

Editorial in Griffin News, April 14.

Artemus Ward's description of the kangaroo as an "amoosin' little cuss" would have been equally as felicitous if applied to the amateur journalist. It has been said that everybody thinks he can run a newspaper, even if not fit for anything else, and this must have been the opinion of the present proprietor of the Albany News and Advertiser, when he took hold of that paper a short time ago. Before his first dozen lead pencils were gone, he started to reform the press, and between the work of stealing his locals and redating his telegrams, boldly accused others of plagiarizing from his paper editorials of doubtful paternity. He then left the city in order that his assistant might begoff from a counter attack—and might also clip a column and half editorial from the Augusta Chronicle, and republished it as a triple headed leader without credit—all of which the assistant faithfully did.

Not satisfied with the attention called by this extraordinary course, the new editor got out a few extra pages of wood type advertisements and culled and plagiarized matter, and resorted to the modest device of sending out postal card petitions for notices of such great enterprise, promising to republish, with credit, all that was said of the great edition. Unfortunately, this evoked some honest criticism, which was not republished either with or without credit.

Another peculiar idea of this great and original

with or without credit.

Another peculiar idea of this great and original amateur editor was that his paper should be an organ of his own personal aggrandizement and glorification. He must pose as a social a leader as well as a great moral reformer. So an ordinary event in which he figures with a dozen other people, is paraded under a triple head as "The Society Occasion of the Season." Other journalists have gone on this line before, but never so far; an experienced editor, however, always sinks his own personality as far as possible.

on this line before, but never so far; an experienced editor, however, always sinks lis own personality as far as possible.

The News and Sun, in answer to some wild lunges of this Don Quixote of Georgia journalism, having made some mild criticisms on these bizarre methods, has at last brought upon the devoted head of its editor a bitter personal attack, in which the enreged reformer indulges in a conglomeration of felschood, billingsgate and idle threats that show still another phase of his character; albeit, a phase that is generally found in persons of his disposition and calibre. It is only when thrown off guard by the exposure of his pretensions and professions that the impostor or crank discards the mask of a gentleman and comes down to the language of the gutter.

It is not with the purpose of descending to any retort in kind that we have reviewed this quite unimportant though somewhat currousceptosed in the steady course of Georgia journalism. It is to make a retraction that we feel is due to everybody. In a previous article we hesitatingly ventured the opinion that the cellior of the Alhany News and Advertiser is not altogether a fool. Alter further observation we withdraw the remark.

In the meantime I struggled under great pain. Life was a burden. Two weeks ago I saw the Chicago "Times," and my eye fell on an advertisement of Tutt's Pills. I decided to try them. They have worked wonderfully. They keep me regular, don't make me sick, give me an appetite and are curing my piles. I am strong and can walk any distance. That only honest and reliable medicines should be placed upon the market. It can-not, therefore, be stated too emphatically, nor repeated too often, that all who are in need of a genuine Blood-purifier should be sure and ask for

It is compounded of Honduras sar-saparilla (the variety most rich in curative properties), stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, and the iodides. The process of man-ufacture is original, skilful, scrupulously clean, and such as to secure the very best medicinal qualities of each ingredient. This medicine is not boiled nor heated, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a com-pound extract, obtained by a method exour own, of the best and most powerful alteratives, tonics, and diureties known to pharmacy. for removal, and they are all country districts. It was a grand victory for Decatur.

The citizens of Stone Mountain deserve much creeze for their united effort in this matter, and if they will show the same liberal spirit in building up their town as they did in their efforts to get the country site moved there, they will soon enjoy the greatest boom they have ever experienced. The King house, which they so generously offered as a courthouse, is one of the best hotels in the state, and with the exception of one town, Stone Mountain is one of the most pleasant places in the state to spend the summer months.

A HIGHER TRIBUNAL

PASSES UPON JUDGE CLARKE'S DE-CISION IN THE TOLLESON CASE

The Lawyers and the Lower Court are Criticised—Tolleson to Remain in Jail, but Judge Clarke Must Amend His Order.

The Tolleson case was decided yesterday by the supreme court. The decision is against Mr. Tolleson, but how far remains to be seen.

He must stay in jail until he complies with Judge Clarke's order, but the judge is directed to amend his order. That order required Tolleson to deliver to the receiver the assets of the Mercantile Banking company in his pos-session, custody or control; but it failed to state what assets were found in his possession, custody or control, and failed to show what or how much he must turn over in order to be re-

According to the supreme court nobody could know what Telleson must do to comply with the order, neither Tolleson, nor the receiver, nor in case the judge should die or resign, the court itself.

The assets which the supreme court require to be stated in the amended order are those which at the time of the trial, more than a year ago, were then shown by the evidence to be in his possession or control. It would seem, therefore, that the $6,000 or more alleged to have been unearthed since that time, cannot be reached unless by some other or further proceeding. He cannot be kept in jail for the withholding of some vague or uncertain amount, but only for what he was clearly shown to have.

It is claimed that the assets thus shown to be in his possession or control amount to comparatively little.

The decision, as will be seen, is somewhat critical. It was delivered by Mr. Justice Sim-The History of the Case.

He begins by reciting the history of the case as shown by the record, which is, in substance,

The proceeding was brought by the Peoples Saving Bank of Alabama against the Mercantile Banking Company of Atlanta, of which Tolleson was president, and Richards cashier. The petition of the Alabama bank was addressed to the superior court of this county, and was filed January 26th, 1889. It stated, in substance, that the Mercantile Banking company owed plaintiff $781.84, payment of which had been refused: that $505 of this was for an Alabama bond which it had bought for the Atlanta bank at the latter's request, and that the remainder was for collections made for it by the Atlanta bank and not remitted; that this bond was sold to John A. Colvin, whose note, not yet due, the defendant held, although claiming to have sold it; that the plaintiff was induced by fraud and false representations to credit the Atlanta bank; that Tolleson and Richards, the alleged president and cashier, were the original and only stockholders therein, as well as the banking company, who were insolvent and heavily in debt, owing large amounts for collections made for various parties, and not remitted.

It was charged that the banking company was preparing to dispose of its assets by trans-fer or otherwise, and that there was pressing necessity for a receiver to take charge of the assets and hold them for the benefit of the creditors, that the only available assets of the defendant were his office furniture and safe, but that he received by every mail large remittances in collections which it failed to apply and directed the defendant, its agents and officers, to turn over the defendant's assets of overy kind.

The receiver reported that he had demanded of Tolleson the defendant's assets; that Tolleson stated that he was in possession of everything, or words to that effect, but only turned over a few notes and bills (in the main past due), small amounts of nominal value, and the books of account: and that he failed to turn over any property or money repre senting the capital stock, or make any excuse for such faiture. He represented that Tolleson had not in good faith complied with the order, and prayed that Tolleson be required to show cause why he should not be attached for contempt of court. The court granted the order prayed for, and Tolleson appeared in response to it, and answered under oath that he neither had then, nor did he have at the time the order was served upon him, any money, property or effects belonging to the Mercantile Banking company, in his possession, custody or control.

Judge Clarke's Order.

After the hearing, Judge Clarke passed the following order:

On hearing the above stated motion of said receiver, and on consideration of the evidence, it it ordered that J. R. Tolleson be and he is hereby commuted to the common jail of Fulton county, there to remain until he complies with the order or the court heretofore made with respect to the delivery of the assets of the defendant corporation to said receiver.

This was on the 29th of January, last year. Tolleson has been in jail ever since. He first carried the case to the supreme court on the ground that his detention in jail was imprisonment for debt, and unconstitutional. The case was decided against him in that court last fall. He then came to the supreme court again, on other grounds, which are dealt with in the present decision.

Yesterday's Decision.

Judge Simmons, in dealing with the first ground urged by Judge Hopkins, Mr. Tolle-son's counsel, says:

He contended with great zeal and ability that an order made on the corporation and not extending to its officers or agents, could not be the foundation of proceedings for contempt against an officer who merely failed to do what was required to be done by the corporation; that before the court could punish Tolleson for contempt, he must have been made a party to the petition and service made on him as an individual; that service on him as president of the corporation was not sufficient to authorize the court to punish him as an individual for sobeying an order to turn over the assets of

Under the facts of the case we cannot agre with him in this view of the law. It will be remembered that the corporation was alleged to be insolvent; that Tolleson and Richards were the only members thereof; that they were insolvent; that demand was made upon Tolleson for the assets of the corporation, and that he admitted that all the assets were in his possession, and refused to turn them over, with session, and retused to turn them over, with the exception of an inconsiderable por-tion of little or no value. It ap-pears from the opinion of the judge, which is in the record, that upon the trial the evidence showed that Tolleson had in his possession a large sum of money which he had failed to turn over to the receiver. It also ap-pears that when Tolleson was served with a rale nisi to show cause why he should not turn over the assets, he appeared in court and an swered the rule under oath, not as president of swered the rule under oath, not as president of the corporation but as an individual, and that he cross-examined the witnesses and took part in the proceedings before the court.

PROCEEDING AGAINST CORPORATIONS.

Judge Simmons then goes on to show that the usual modes of procedure against a corpora-tion would in this case be useless, because the corporation was insolvent and the president had the agreet in his procession. Beddes the procedure by distringas and sequestration, usual in England and some of the states of this country, to enforce obedience to the court by a corporation, has not been in use in this state.

"When a court acquires jurisdiction over a corporation as a party, it obtains jurisdiction over the official conduct of the corporate officers so far as that conduct may be involved in the remedy of the corporation which the court is called upon to enforce. So far as that remedy requires affirmative action by the corporation pending the suit, such action can be had only through the officers or agents of the corporation. Without obedience on their part to commands addressed to the corporation, there can be no obedience to such commands whatever. Any refusal by the officers to do whatever. Any refusal by the officers to do in behalf of the corporation an act which the court has commanded the corporation to perform, and which it can perform alone through court has commanded the corporation to per-form, and which it can perform alone through them, is an obstruction by such officers to the order of the court, and stands on the same foeting as would the interference by a stranger to hinder or prevent the doing of the act by the officers were they disposed to do it and were they to endeavor to do it ac-cordingly. Certainly the court could deal summarily for contempt with a stranger thus interfering without his being made a party to the pending case. We can see no reason why an-officer of the corporation who refuses to do an act on its behalf which the court has or-ered it to perform, is not as obstructive to the an act on its behalf which the court has orered it to perform, is not as obstructive to the due administration of justice as a stranger would be who should attempt to hinder the officer from doing the act. In the one case the officer hinders himself by his own contumacy; in the other he would be hindered by a third person, or by the action of a will outside of his own."

After further discussion of this ground and After further discussion of this ground, and the citation of the authorities an the subject, and after passing over the second ground, which was not insisted upon by Mr. Tolleson's coun-sel, Judge Simmons proceeds as follows;

"The third ground is not free from difficulty.
The whole proceedings in this case seem to have been very loose and very hasty. The bill have been very loose and very hasty. The bill is exceedingly loose in its charges as to the nature and character of the assets which it is alleged belonged to the defendant corporation; it utterly fails to allege the nature, character, quality, quantity or amount of assets, except the office furniture and the safe and the note of Colvin. Good pleading would have required a better and more specific description of the assets which the plaintiff wished the court to selze through its reciver, or that some reason be stated why such a description could not be made. The some reason be stated why such a description could not be made. The pleader seems to have endeavored to show that there were no assets, for he alleges that the defendant advertised that it had a paid up capital of $100,000 and $5,000 surplus, and on the tal of $100,000 and $5,000 surplus, and on the next page of the bill alleges that said corporation has not $100,000 capital paid in and $5,000 surplus in cash, or other available assets, and that Tolleson and Richards, were the only stockholders of the corporation, that they were insolvent and never even gave in any property for taxes for the years 1888 and 1889, and that the execution dockets showed judgments against Tolleson unpaid.

"The judgment of the court also was lacking in specifying the result of the court's investigation upon the hearing; it fails to show what assets the court found to beleng to the corporation or to be in Tolleson's possession or under his control; or their character, quantity or der his control; or their character, quantity or amount."

"We think, however, that we can fairly infer, from some of the allegations in the bill, that the defendant had some assets; and giving the judgment of the court, the legal presumption to which it is entitled, we may infer that the court assertained by preserved and that Tol. court ascertained by proper evidence that Tol-leson did have at the time the rule was served upon him some assets of the corporation which he failed and refused te surrender, and that the order committing him to jail for refusal to obey the previous order was an implied judg-ment that he was in contempt for refusing. The order committing him to prison, therefore, was not void, as contended, but was only irregular. It should have stated the character or th unar. It should have stated the character of the amount of the assets which the judge had found to be in Tolleson's possession in order that Tolleson and the receiver might know what Tolleson had to do to comply with the order and be discharged from custody. As it order and be discharged from custody. As it is now, the character and amount of the assets rest only in the breast of the judge, and if he should die or resign his office, his successor would not and could not know when to discharge Tolleson from imprisonment, or when there was a compliance by Tolleson with the order of his predecessor in surrendering the assets. son with the order of his pre-decessor in surrendering the assets. The practice in cases where a party is or-dered to turn over goods to a receiver is usu-ally to require him to do it upon his own oath, or to refer it to a master to take the testimony as to the amount and character of the assets and report to the court the amount of assets found in the possession of the party; and for the court thereupon to make an order that such assets be turned over to the receiver in a such assets be turned over to the receiver in a certain length of time.

"Thus the whole matter becomes of record "Thus the whole matter becomes of record and if the party refuses to obey the order and is imprisoned, he knows the character and amount of assets he has to surrender in order to be discharged. In this case it appears that the court acted as the master himself, and heard the evidence on this subject, but failed to embody in his order what the proofs showed the assets consisted of which Tolleson refused to surrender. We therefore direct that the the assets consisted of which Tolleson refused to surrender. We therefore direct that the judge amend the order and specify therein the amount and character of the assets which he found to be in Tolleson's possession, power and control, so that Tolleson must know what he must surrender in order to be discharged."

It may be insisted that as we entertain these views in regard to the irregularity of this order committing Tolleson to prison, it would order committing Tolleson to prison, it would follow that the judgment should be reversed and he be discharged from further custody. This result might have been followed if Tolleson had shown any disposition to obey any part of the order. As before remarked, the judge must have found that he had some of the assets of the corporation. If Tolleson had offered to comply with the judgment of the court by surrendering something—anything substantial—and the court had refused to discharge him, the case would have been very different. But as we have seen, so far as appears from this record, he has never offered to do anything to satisfy the judge of his willingness to comply with the order in any respect. As far as the record discloses, his mouth, his hands, his pockets and his safe flave been closed throughout the whole proceeding, except in the very guarded answor made to the title is insisted that hefore Tolleson was com-

"It is insisted that before Tolleson was com-"It is insisted that before Tolleson was committed to prison there should have been a judgment that he was in contempt of court. While that, no doubt, is the better practice in cases of contempt generally, yet in the case we think the judgment necessarily implied an order passed by the judge. Besides, this is not a case for the punishment of Tolleson, but is a remedial proceeding allowed by law for the purpose of forcing him to surrender for the benefit of creditors property to which he had no claim.

benefit of creditors property to which he had no claim.

"It is ordered that the judgment be affirmed, with direction to the trial judge to amend his order by inserting therein the amout and character of the assets which he found Tolle-son had at the time of the trial.

They Must Be Cleaned.—The walls of the great rotunds of the capitol have begun to look grimy with dust, and a vigorous effort is being made to clean them. Mr. Allen, the keeper of the building, had a number of men yesterday perched on ladders attempting to wipe the dust away with long handled brooms. As their reach is naturally limitee Mr. Allen intends to lower some one from the roof who can clean the walls as he descends. ommittee met at Mr. Hoke Smith's office, at 5 committee met at Mr. Hoke Smith's office, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The meeting was held for the purpose of making preparations for a still more active canvass of the city in the interests of the building of the great temple. The committee consumed the time in discussing plans, and adjourned after deciding that the work shall be pushed still more vigoronsly until the work is completed.

Where It Is Beautiful.-The most attractive resort near Atlanta is now the club house of the driving club. The lawn at the front has been beautifully laid out and brilliant-hued flower have been scattered about with a liberal hand. The club realize that they made a ten strike when they elected Dr. Ridley president, and they also realize that much of the improvement is due to the exquisite taste of Mrs. Ridley.

Colored Military Fairs.—The Governor's Vol-unteers, one of Atlanta's colored companies, will open their fair at 95 and 97 Broad street, April 2ist. The fair is for the purpose of raising money to procure new uniforms for the company to appear in at the annual inspection. The fair will last for three days, after which the hall will be turned over to the Georgia Cadets, and ored company, who will hold a fair for the same purpose. Both companies have committees now canvassing for subscriptions and donations for their respective fairs, and all donations will be thankfully acknowledged.

Electric Cars Collide.-There was a small collison on the Houston street line of the Fulton County Electric railway on Sunday. Two cars, moving in opposite direc-tions, were approaching the Houston street turnout. The car on the down grade reached the turnout first, and instead of slowing up till the other one got safely on the side track, continued on down the street. The motorman evidently misjudged the distance, for the rear evidently misjudged the distance, for the rear-end of the up car had not gotten out of the way when the down car struck it. The windows on that side of the car were smashed out, and the rear platform crushed. Nobody was hurt, though the passengers were considerably shaken up and frightened by the shattered glass.

THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION SENT TO ANY ADDRESS.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 51, 1690.

Help the Exposition.

As announced in Sunday's Constitution the committees appointed by President Wylie to solicit subscriptions for the Piedmont exposition will call on the business men of Atlanta today, and will continue the work during the week.

It is earnestly to be hoped that there will be no trouble in raising a large fund for this

Eight thousand dellars was raised last year, and more the year before. It is abso-Intely necessary for the success of the exposition that the business men contribute at least $8,000 this year, and it is certainly to their interest to do so. There is no business house, no boarding house, nor hotel, in Atlanta that will not be benefited by the great crowds that will be drawn to the city during the next exposition. It is the purpose of the directors to give he most elaborate exposition this year ever held by the Piedmont Exposition company. It is necessary that the business men of the city do their part toward making it the success that its directors are determined that it shall be.

Don't turn away the committees that will call on you for subscriptions. Give something. If you cannot give much, give little. THE CONSTITUTION will publish from day to day the lists of subscriptions received.

Destroyed By Debt.

Not many years ago Governor Alonzo B. Cornell, of New York, was a power in the land. He ruled over a state equal to an empire, and his voice was a factor in our national councils.

A few days ago it was discovered that the ex-governor was hiding somewhere from his creditors. He had lost money in unfortunate enterprises, and had rolled up debts which he was unable to pay. Finally the collapse came, and the sheriff's officers started out to hunt for Cornell.

The man had committed no crime. He had simply got himself into a tangle from which he saw no escape. The numerous duns and suits upset his mental balance for the time, and without actually resorting to flight, he concealed himself, and left his creditors to pursue their relentless hunt.

Doubtless an arrangement will be made that will give the debter time to straighten his affairs, but the fact that a man of such prominence and strength has been driven nearly to insanity or suicide by the pressure of debt conveys a warning lesson to every-

The moralists talk about the deadly work of certain vices, but they make a mistake when they fail to rank debt among the destroyers of civilized manhood. Proud and strong men are every day undone by debt and nothing else. Debt fills the asylum, the penitentiary and the suicide's grave. It drags men down not only to poverty, but to the lowest depths of vice and wretchedness. John Randolph once said that the philosopher's stone was nothing more nor less than the old maxim: "Pay as you go." He was more than half right. If Cornell and thousands of others had stuck to that maxim they would not now be hiding their faces from the world in unutterable shame and misery.

The man who shuns debt is almost certain to escape the worst evils of life.

The Silver Situation.

While the eastern organs of capital and speculation regard the silver situation in Washington as "threatening," the rest of the country is disposed to look on it as very hopeful. The two republican caucuses that were recently held to discuss the silver question, showed very plainly that the leaders of that party have discovered that they can no longer afford to ignore the wishes of the people in this matter, and it is this fact that has so seriously disturbed the eastern organs.

In other words, the house and senate caucuses have demonstrated the fact that the silver men have the upper hand in this congress. The east no longer controls, and, as a natural consequence, there are strong hopes that congress, in the midst of its partisan and jobbing legislation, will give to the country a heathy silver measure.

The Bland bill, unsatisfactory as it is, has nevertheless, done an immense amount of good in preventing the complete degradation of silver, but it has not succeeded in remonetizing the metal by placing it on a par with This can only be done by opening the mints to silver as they are open to gold, but It is too much to expect that this will be done at this time. It is more likely that some sort of a compromise will be reached, whereby the coinage will be increased with out opening the mints to free coinage.

This is better than no legislation at all The Bland bill has served its purpose. It has steadied the silver market all over the world, according to the president of the bank of France, and it has shown the people that the financiers who prophesied disaster if the compulsory coinage act became a law didn't know what they were talking about. Gold was to be driven out of the country, and a tremendous financial panic was to ensue. Nothing of the sort has happened, bu just the reverse. But another step forward ust be made, and it must be in the direction of free coinage.

There is every probability that the bill now before the senate will pass. It is a better measure than the Windom proposition, and is in the nature of a compre all around. This senate bill requires the secretary of the treasury to purchase silver builion to the amount of $4,500,000 each month, to be coined into dollars, and to issue mry notes for a like amount, redeen by national bank associations, may be counted as part of their lawful reserve. This is not entirely satisfactory to the silver men, who naturally want free coinage, but, as a step in the right direction it will do very well, and they will doubtless accept it as in the nature of a compromise.

The Annexation of Cuba. The annexation of Cuba is again under discussion. About once in every dozen years the newspapers are full of this Cuban matter, but it always turns out that Spain has no notion of selling the island. Just why the annexation scheme should attract attention now, i is hard to explain. It is true that the Cubans are restless and dissatisfied, but this is nothing new. They are misgoverned and heavily taxed, but there is no help for it.

Our past negotiations with Spain have not been such as to encourge us. President Polk tried to purchase Cuba, but the Spanish government would not consider the proposition. Later Buchanan. Soule and Mason signed the Ostend manifesto which declared it to be the duty of this country to annex the island if Spain could not be induced to

But we are no nearer the acquisition of this tempting bit of territory than we were before. Undoubtedly, from a commercial point of view, Cuba would be valuable. Its acquisition would enable the people in a few years to save enough in the cost of sugar to equal the amount of the purchase money.

The race question unhappily is an objection. Do we care to complicate our present problem by extending our government over an alien population of Spanards and ne-This question disturbs many of our groes? people, and causes them to regard the annexation project unfavorably. It is plain that the parties interested are not yet ready for decisive action.

An Infamous Job.

A correspondent writes to ask us why it is that congress is even considering a measure to impose an excise tax on compound lard, which is known to be a cheap and wholesome article of food.

The question is a very simple and direct one, and demands a simple and direct answer. Congress is not only considering the measure, but seems to be on the point of passing it, and the reason is that the bill is a job with a big pile of money behind it. If congressmen could not be bought this infamous piece of jobbery would have been killed in committee: if there were no money behind the measure, it would not be necessary for the people of a whole section to protest against the destruction of an important

This is a plain, simple and direct answer to the question put by our correspondent. There is not an intelligent congressman in Washington but knows that the Conger lard bill is an infamous job intended to put money in the pockets of a combination of western pork packers, not only at the expense of the people, but to the destruction of one of the most important industries that has ever been developed in the south. The consideration of the bill has been bought and paid for, and if it becomes a law its passage will be bought and paid for.

These things are perfectly clear to those who keep an eye on legislation in Washington. The lard bill is a matter of money. It is backed by the millions of the great west ern pork packers, and this combination has been, and is now represented at Washington by a brigade of trained lobbyists. The pretense that the bill is in favor of healthful food has been long ago exploded. It has been shown that the lard which the bill is intended to protect is made from the offal of hogs, and from hogs that are found dead in the cars and in the pens. The methods of the pork packers have been thoroughly ventilated, and yet, by means of their money judiciously applied where it would do the nost good, they have succeeded in securing a favorable report from the house committee on agriculture.

On the other hand it has been shown by chemical analysis, and by the testimony of experts, that the compound lard is a cheap and wholesome article of food that is bought by the people on its merits. The only difficulty in the world, and the only objection to it, is the fact that it is cheap enough and wholesome enough to be the food of the poor. It is too cheap and too popular to suit the views of the pork packers, who manufacture the filthy stuff that is sold under the name of pure lard, and they have made a crusade against it in congress—a crusade that is so powerfully backed up by money that it hreatens to be successful.

It is an infamous piece of jobbery all the way through.

Mexican Progress. Our neighbors, the Mexicans, are half a century behind us in some things, and in other matters they are a little ahead.

The postoffice business of Mexico has some fancy kinks connected with it that would dazzle Postmaster-General Wanamaker. For instance, a phonograph is to be placed in each principal postoffice in Mexico. This will be for the accommodation of the numerous citizens who cannot read and write. The illiterate Mexican will go to the postoffice, talk his message into the receiver of the phonograph, and when the cylinder reaches its destination the person addressed will be sent for, and the message will be repeated to him by another machine.

This is progress in an eccentric line, but it is not likely to be imitated by our postoffice department, and in fact there is little eason why it should be.

Another postal convenience in Mexico is an immense insurance company which guarantees the senders of valuable letters and packages against loss in the mails.

These little matters are of interest as pointers. They show that the people south of us are in touch with the age, and forging ahead in their own way. They have found out that there are more profitable industries than the production of guerillas, and more agreeable occupations than civil war. THE REPUBLICAN organs are naturally very fond of the results of the kangaroo ballot. They should wait, however, until it is introduced in the south. Its results here will make

It is pretty well settled that Judge James R. Brown will be in the race for congress from the ninth district. Judge Brown's friends say he has received so many pressing and urgent requests to run from all over the district that he finds it difficult to decline to make the race. He will probably formally announce his candidacy before long.

The New England Magazine. Rev. S. R. Denver, D. D., of Boston, Mass. will spend a few days in the city in the ir terest of the New England Magazine. It is proposed to publish in an early issue of this nagazine one or more illustrated historical and descriptive articles on Atlanta. The articles will combine authentic history the highest literary merit. The intention is to publish an extra edition of ten thousand copies of this magazine of the number containing these articles, and Dr. Denver is here to solicit subscription and prepare for the articles.

The New England Magazine is backed by ample capital, and it is the purpose of the management to introduce New England men and money into the south. We commend Dr. Denver to our citizens and hope they will patronize his magazine, as it deserves He comes backed with strong letters, and the work he has mapped out for the south deserves,

It is a honeful sign for the south when New England is sending such men as Dr. Denver on such a mission. Already millions of dollars have been invested in north Georgia, north Alabama and Tennessee, by men from the north, and yet the tide has not fairly turned this way. When they begin to realize fully what we can do with our iron fields, our cottor fields, timber and naval stores, together with our copper, gold and marble, and more espewith the finest fruit lands in the United cially States, the multitudes that have heretofore flocked to the west and the Pacific slope, will come south, with their energy and money to help reap the rich harvests of a part of the country that politics has held under restraint for a quarter of a century.

Let them come and get better acquainted with our people. They will find them gener-ous, outspoken and hospitable, and they will find the south the garden spot of the union the easiest part in which to make a living and the best to live in. We commend Dr. Denver and the New England Magazine to the people of Atlanta.

RIFLES COME BACK.

THEY ANSWER CHARGES MADE

Furnish Evidence Supporting Their Charge of Unfair Treatment a sonville—Other Opinion that they were robbed of the first prize in the recent drill at Jacksonville.

That prize, they say, was wrongfully given to the Southern Cadets of Macon. The Atlanta Rifles have affirmed, and now eiterate, that they won the first prize fairly, and were therefore entitled to receive it. That these propositions can be domonstrated by the strongest possible proofs—proofs based upon the admission of the judges of the const themselves. The board of judges announced the percentage as follows: The Southern Cadets 95 per ceut the Atlanta Rifles 94 per cent.

The Jacksonville Times-Union, of the 12th instant, after stating that the decision was great surprise to every one, and was receive with universal dissatisfaction, as all thought the Atlanta Rifles had won the first prize, uses these words:

nses these words:

The officers who rendered this decision admit that the Rifles put up a better drill than the Southern Cadets, and their movements were very near perfection. They claim, however, that Captain Spencer overlooked two commands on the programme, and the omission of these brought the score down-to ninety-four per cent. If this error had not cecurred the Atlanta boys would have had an almost perfect score of ninety-nine per cent.

These statements must be accepted as perfectly true because the judges of the drill, who fectly true because the judges of the drill, who were still in Jacksonville when they were printed, would certainly have denied them had they been false.

Now, admitting that Captain Spencer did overlook two commands, still the Rifles claim that they won the first prize fairly and squarely, because Captain Sims, of the Southern Cadets, overlooked four commands on the programme and omitted to give

Here is the proof, and it came from high military authority—an accomplished officer of the strictest integrity, who will give his name He says:

'I was present and watched the drill of the Southern Cadets very closely. Captain Sims omitted to give four commands. I observed these omissions and distincily remember the commands. They were first, left wheel, double time; second, oblique movement in column of fours; third, direct fire kneeling, and fourth, breaking two fours from one flank to rear. I am positive about this, and while I do not wish o rush into print, I will give my name if any denial is made.

"The omissions were not only made, but they were discussed in the presence of the judges, and the judges admitted that they were

"So, from the standpoint of the judges themelves," said an officer of the Rifles last night, "the first prize should have awarded to the Atlanta Rifles, it is clear that if the two omissions of Captain Spencer reduced their percentage only one point below that of the Southern Cadets, the four omissions of Captain Sims would have brought down the percentage of his company far below that of the Rifles—giving them the first prize. The inference therefore is irresistible that the judges, in the light of their own admissions, awarded the first prize to a company which in their own judgment, made twice as many omissions as the Atlanta Rifles which they stated had put up a better drill than the Southern Cadets

"Here then, is the plainest possible proof that the Atlanta Rifles were robbed of the first prize, not meres assertion, not wild passion, but an unvarnished demonstration that the judges at the Jacksonville drill, under color of false authority, knowingly and wilfully ordered two thousand dollars to be paid to the Southern Cadets, which the Atlanta Rifles had fairly and squarely won, not only in the opinion of all who witnessed the contest-not only in the opinion of the Jacksonville papers of the morning before the decision-but even in the judgment of the judges themselves. If this was not robbery, pure and simple, what was it?

ss scribbler in Monday's M: Telegraph-a man who does not even shelte himself behind a nom de plume, but contents himself with appearing in print as a nobodysays that the people of Macon ardisgusted with the conduct of the Atlanta

Rifles at Jacksonville. Are they disgusted because the Rifles showed righteous indignation when the prize which they had won was given to the Southern Cadets? The writer surely misrepresents the better element of Macon when he declares that the people down there exhibit intense disgust honest and emphatic protest against outright injustice.

He says again, that "if anybody wants to know how the Atlanta Rifles are regarded, let hfm visit Jacksonville." Well, the Jacksonville Morning Tribu the 11th, has this to say of the Atlanta Rifles: The above named company in their drill vester-day fairly outdid themselves. Some old soldiers say that it was almost errorless. They are the most gentlemanly set of soldiers that have ever most gentlemani visited our city.

The Jacksonville Metropolis says:

The Atlanta Riffes are a noble company of men, and gave an almost perfect drill. They did their work like a perfect piece of machinery.
The captain is a whole engine in himself.

Now, in the face of all this, the Macon scribbler says: "If the conduct of the Atlanta Rifles from the officers down to the humblest private is to be construed by Captain Spencer as the actions of gentlemen, then there are those who fail to comprehend what the term The Atlanta Rifles to a man repel with utter contempt the insinuation of the nameles writer, and would despise themselves if the of comprehending what the term gentleman even feebly capable of appreciating th means—even feebly capable of appreciating the conduct of gentlemen.

"But it's Atlanta all over. Full of blow and brass. When they fail to take the whole hog, they resort to mud, and as that's their element, we can say nothing."

"Yes, it is Atlanta all over to shout a protest against robbery, even if Macon does indorse it," was the comment of one prominent Atlanta man. "Atlanta has never done any blowing and brassing over stolen goods delivered by juggling judges. When the city needs a whole hog with trimmings, she'll just send for her anonymous libeller; and as to mud, we crush him with thirty-two miles of paved streets, which is confidently put in contrast to the Sahara of sand which fills the thoroughfares of Macon, not one grain of which the slanderous scribbler has in his gizzard, in proof of which he dared not affix his name to the batch of infamous lies which he has published on the gallant gentlemen of the Atlanta."

im an affidavit to that effect, if he desired it.

him an affidavit to that effect, if he desired it. Another lie exploded."

The Rifles claim that there is every reason to believe that the judges were juggled with. If not, they ask why did they allow two friends of the Southern Cadets to sit near them after the drill of the Atlanta Rifles and suggest that certain errors were being made? Was not that influencing the judges?

Again, they claim that a certain notorious Macon gambler, the ring leader of fifteen or twenty others, went to Jacksonville to back up and bet on the Southern Cadets, while the Rifles went there on their merits. Their money was on the Southern Cadets, and they undoubtedly juggled to win it by fair or foul means. At any rate a witness in Jacksonville will swear that this same notorious gambler filled up two of the judges on $90 worth of champagne on the night after the drill, but before the decision had been rendered. Then, too, a member of the drill team of the Southern Cadets stated in the presence of members of the drill teams of the Atlanta Rifles and Gate City Guard, "You may have beat us drilling, but you haven't got the wire pullers."

Captain Spencer of the Rifles has received a number of letters from gentlemen of high standing as citizens and military men, stating that they witnessed the drill and that the Rifles deserved the first prize. These gentlemen are all strangers to Captain Spencer.

Here is a sample letter from Captain Varnadoe, of the Valdosta Videttes, which explains itself:

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 11, 1890.—Captain M. B.

nadoe, of the Valdosta Videttes, which explains itself:
VALDOSTA, Ga., April 11, 1890.—Captain M. B. Spencer, Atlanta, Ua.—My Dear Sir: Although entirely a stranger to you, you will pardon me for tendering to you and your company my sincere congratulations for the admirable drilling of your company yesterday afternoon at Jacksonville. After witnessing the contest of yesterday, I left for home with the conviction that the Atlanta Rifles were the victors. Allow me to suggest that the graceful ease and unchalance of their captain, in my judgment, is largely responsible for the present attainments of the Atlanta Rifles.
With best wishes, I beg to subscribe myself, your friend,
Captain "Valdosta Videttes."

DEPEW ON THE SOUTH.

From an Interview in New York Mail and Express From an Interview in New York Mail and Express. "The industrial south, commonly called the new south, has developed with wonderful rapidity and very little notoriety. Florida and portions of South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama—but particularly Florida—must, in future, attract the immigration of farmers' sons who now leave the middle and New England states for the far west and the Pacific coast. Land is cheap, and, with intelligent, care, and irrigation productive of intelligent care and irrigation, productive of the fruits, berries, vegetables, and other things which pay well upon limited acreage beyond anything known in the northern or western states. I believe that Florida will attract this immigration of farmers' sons. An orange grove takes some capital and more patience, but if one can wait and live off the rest of the land during the seven years required for an orange grove to reach a profitable period, an income of ab per acre above expenses is reasonably assured to its owner for the rest of his life. Of course bad years and seasons of frost may reduce this estimate considerably but even under the most unfavorable con ns the orange grove yields a very large profit ome young men, with a little capital, who led to go to Florida for their health, bough about forty acres and planted it with grapes. Th result after three years has been an excellent living with but little labor. Others have taken from twenty to fifty acres, put down artesian wells, which can be sunk anywhere at a cost of from $2,500 to $6,000, and by run-ning the water through their lands have produced early vegetables and berries for the north-ern markets, with a cash profit so large that I would not dare state it without more careful investigation. As these isolated facts become known, and it is demonstrated that the same re-sults can be duplicated without limit, Florida will secome a great and prosperous state, with a homo-geneous population made up of vigorous youths neous population made up of vigo om the northern and western farms.

"But the immediate progress of the south has been along the lines of the coal and iron development. It is a brilliant commentary upon the rela-tive worth of free and slave institutions that this incalculable wealth should have remained dor-mant for two hundred years of settlement, and mant for two hundred years of settlement, and that the touch of liberty should, in such a comparatively short space of time, have so started its energies and distributed its benefits. Under the influence of this development, Atlanta in twenty-five years, has grown from a few shantles and charred chimneys to a flourishing city of 70,000 people, with all the requisites for doubling its population and wealth in the next ten years. The same is true of Chattaneoga and Knoxville, cities of about equal size. In addition to this, prosperous mining and manufacturing settlements, destined to grow rapidly into cities, are to be found all along the ore belt of Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama. The coal, the iron and the limestone lying beside one another in this vast region give an advantage, in the saving of transportation charges, to the furnnees, which will enable them, with an equal quality of ore, to control the from market of the country. "That dynamite of progress, the boomer,' irrepressible and irresistible, is prevading the south. He is the same man we met in Duluth or at Kansas

"The best evidence of the progress and prosperity of any country or section of a country is the condition of its railways and their operations.
They are the true barometer of industrial and financial prosperity or the reverse.

"The railroads of the south have, so far as the roadbeds, track and physical requirements are concerned, been almost rebuilt in the last decade.
It was gratifying to find so many miles of stone ballast and smooth running of the trains. In several sections in Georgia, Florida and Tennessee the traffic has outgrown the facilities provided for taking care of it. I met with many instances where the siddings were not equal to the length of the trains which the movement of traffic had made necessary. Railroad men complained much of arbitrary rates fixed by railway commissioners, and of the difficulty of earning enough to meet their fixed charges and get a fair return upon the capital invested.

"It seems to me, however, but a short time will

"It seems to me, however, but a short time will clapse before the volume of the business carried will overcome these objections and make the present rates amply remunerative. The business offered, both from the mines and factories and from the farms, grows apace, and varied industries and larger acreage brought under cultivation are constantly adding to its volume."

THE THREE ARNOLDS

ON TRIAL FOR ASSAULTING JOHN Y

The Best Part of Yesterday Taken Up to Getting a Jury-Conley on the Stand-

Prominent Lawyers as Defendants. Three lawyers on trial. Colonel Reuben Arnold, Frank A. Arnold and Reuben Arnold, Jr., were arraigned in the criminal superior court yesterday, before Judge Richard H. Clark.

The Messrs. Arnold were on trial for the difficulty which occurred between them and John L. Conley several months ago. At the time the story of the affair was printed fully by THE CONSTITUTION, and the facts brought out yesterday were substantially the same as stated then Colonel Albert Cox represented the Messra.

When court adjourned yesterday evening the case had only been fairly begun. All the morning session was taken up in the str of a jury.

The trial of the case created conside interest, and during the day the courtroom was well filled with spectators.

Mr. John L. Conley was the first witness introduced by the state, when court convened in after-dinner session. Mr. Conley runs what is known as The Plow Boy printing establishment, about a half r this side of East Point. He was the party assaulted by the Messrs. Arnold. The defense practically admitted the fact of the assault, or rather of blows and gun shots having been given by the defendants, but set up that Conley was really the assailant, as he struck the first lick.

On the stand Captain Conley went over the same story of the visit of the three Arnolds to his office and the melee there as already printed in THE CONSTITUTION.

inaccuracies in his statement then were result of his dazed and confused state of mind, consequent upon the rough handling he said he Captain Conley told how "Old Rube," 'Young Rube," as he called them, and Frank of holes in the wall," was Colonel Cox's reply. 'You know enough law for that." The witness was asked if he had not stated. 'If I could have got my hands on a gun it would have been all day Isom with somebody. It wouldn't have taken any coroner's jury to tell how the Arnolds came to their death.

"Yes, I might have said something like that," he replied.

He said he didn't try to get at gun all the time though, notwithstanding he had his hands on that of one of the Arnolds. He denie phatically that he had struck the first blow, and said he had never admitted anything of

The origin of the difficulty between the Messrs. Arnold and Captain Conley was turned over by the defense to show that Conley ad conceived a deep malice against the de fendants because they were engaged in pro-cuting him on behalf of M. E. Maher.

This malice and hatred, it was set up, prompted him to ask for the expulsion nel Arnold from the Atlanta bar. Whereupon the defendants, Colonel Rube Arnold, his son and brother, visited Mr. Coney's office, as stated above, and also armed, they admit.

Colonel Cox, in addressing a point to Colonel Cox, in addressing a point to the court, said that the defense would shot that they had not gone to Mr. Cox ley's office to assault him, but went arms openly to warh him against any assault apot them. They went, he said, to talk the uniter over with Conley, but he work not allow them an opportunity, jumping u and assailing them before they had time a utter a word. This, and that Mr. Conley actually struck the first blow, making the actio of the Messrs. Arnold self-defensive, Colone Cox said he expected to show satisfactorily to of the Messrs. Amoid self-defensive, Conset Cox said he expected to show satisfactorily to the court and jury.

Another point of defense will be an effect to impeach Mr. Conley.

The jury was quartered at the hotel last night in the custody of bailiffs.

It is probable that the case will occupy the court all today.

BUCKET SHOPS BREAK.

S. H. PHELAN & CO.'S ATLANTA AND OTHER OFFICES CLOSED.

A Big Smash-up in Nashville-Macon, Co-lumbus and Griffin Heard From-The Cause of it All.

Sid Phelan has failed. And late last night he was placed under Phelan were sorry to hear it.

People who had watched the market knew People who had watched the market knew that after the big jump in meat and grain on Saturday, something had to drop. So the following announcement, posted on S. H. Phelan & Co.'s boards at yesterday's opening, did not create as much excitement as it might otherwise have done. Here is the announcement: We are forced to announce that we are unable to meet our engagements and have to suspend. All contracts will be closed at Saturday's closing Assets, nothing. Liabilities, from $50,000 to $60,000.

This is the way Mr. Phelan figures it out. "I can't tell about it until we have gone through the books," said he, when asked for the figures, "but I know there are no assets. The meney which started me going after my first failure was raised by my wife mortgaging her property—both the country place and her city home. Both places are mortgaged to me. Both places are mortgaged for all they are worth."

"What's the cause of the failure?" "The sudden rise in the meat and grain market, made undoubtedly for the purpose of squeezing out of existence the outside operators—like I am. How well they have succeeded is shown by the collapse of the Nashville concern, one of the very largest in the country. If it hadn't been for that collapse I could have tided over this trouble. Sheriff Connell had half a dozen warrants in his possession, sworn out by parties in Griffin, charging Mr. Phelan with cheating and swindling in each case. He required one thousand dollars bond in each case, which was readily given by Mr. Phelan, Mr. George W. Parrott signing the bonds.

The bond in this case was only a sheriff's bond for Mr. Phelan's appearance this morning, when he will be taken to Griffin for trial. Sheriff Connell and Hon. Frank Flynt arrived tegether, on the 10:10 train, by the Central road. Sheriff Connell had telegraphed Chief Comolly to arrest Mr. Phelan, and had dispatched Deputy Sheriff Perkerson to meet him at the union passenger depot, before leaving Griffin. But Deputy Sheriff Perkerson had received his dispatch first, and was at the stationhouse when the one came to Chief Connolly, so that the whole matter was postponed until the arrival of Sheriff Connell.

The matter was very quietly and quickly attended to, and further proceedings will be watched with interest.

MACON SUSPENDS.

The Bucket Shop There Will Lose About $5,000.

Macon, Ga., April 14.—[Special.]—Meat has gone skyward. Chicago has made another dig at the bucket shops. United manipulation sent pork from $12.55 to $15.75 per barrel in a few hours, and sent the shops to the wall.

Shops throughout the country have susfor a space of time yet to be estimated.

Macon's bucket shop has gnne to the wall with the balance. To The Constitution today, Captain J. F. Lyon, manager of the exchange here, said that no business would be transacted today or even for several days to come, but that his place would remain open and keep posted on the market as usual.

change lost on the meat rise, and nearly half of this amount, it is understood, went to one man.

"It was all a dig at the bucket shops, of course," said Mr. Lyon, "and it is the only effort that has yet been made that has had any effect. Chicago opened Saturday morning at $11.55, and by noon had jumped to $15.75, an advance of $4.20 per barrel. This was brought about by a united manipulation of the market by the enemies of the shops, as is clearly evident from the fact that no transactions, were made. Only presistent bidding with this end in view, caused the advance and immediately upon the posting of the $4.20 rise buyers began to sell and sellers begun to go to the wall."

"Here," he said, "is a telegram I've just received from President McRae, of the Nashville exchange, in which he says the sudden turn the market has taken has forced him to suspend operations. He hopes, however, to be on his feet again and able to resume business in a few days. McRae controls a large number of bucket shops in Tennessee, just as Phelan, of Atlanta, does in this state. The Macon exchange is controlled by Phelan, together with those in Augusta, Atlanta, Albany, Columbus and Americus and they will all have to suspend.

THE MACON SHOP TO PAY.

"Will the Macon exchange pay its losses, Captain Lyon?" asked the reporter.

"Yes, sir, every dollar. Immediately upon hearing that there was trouble along the line, I went to a couple of responsible gentlemen and placed in their hands nearly enough money to cover the transactions made here, and the balance can be had when wanted. Not a dollar will be lost by Macon speculators."

Going to one of the gentlemen, who it was said had made a considerable "spec." The Constitution asked how he had come out.

"Nice enough," he feplied, "and Captain Lyon's action in securing his customers here is being highly complimented. He put up enough to satisfy those to whom he had sold, immediately upon hearing of the trouble, and little or no excitement was caused here by the affair.

In the exchange today sat twelve or fifteen spectators, laughing and chatting, and seemingly unconcerned, though it was known that two of them at least had made a good round sum. This was good evidence that Macon was not suffering and that the shop here was doing the square thing. Mr. Lyon thinks it probable that the Macon exchange will be open again in a few days, but says they will have to suspend business until things are straightened out and a new start can be made. The boards also show a sharp advance in both cotton, wheat and oats, but this is said to be purely legitimate, and has caused no trouble here. This is unquestionably the most forcible stroke that has been made by Chicago against the bucket shops, and they have been given a pretty bad black eye. Just how long they will be afflicted cannot be anticipated, but they are pretty hard to down, and it is generally conceded that in a few days they will rise again.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 14.—[Special.]—Phelan's cotton exchange has gone into inocuous desuetude. Manager Pickett opened the office this morning, and was shortly afterward joined by Mr. Abbott, the telegraph operator. Pretty soon the telegraph instrument commenced to clatter, and among the first messages that came was the following from Atlanta:

Notice.—We are unable to meet our engagements. Will have to suspend. All contracts closed at Saturday's figures, and some settlement will be made in a few days.

S. H. Phelan. will be made in a few days.

S. H. PHELAN.

During the day, a number of parties who were interested in Saturday's deals have been about the exchange. The usual frequenters were seated about the room reading the black-board quotations, which still continued to come by wfre. Others were standing about in groups, talking over the situation, but no business was being transacted. Early in the morning Manager Pickett absented himself from the exchange and his whereabouts are unknown. The reporter learns that he was called to Atlanta by Mr. Phelan to assist in arranging for a settlement.

THE EXCITEMENT IN NASHVILLE

Over the Assignment of the Merchant and Traders' Exchange.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 14.—[Special.]—

Great excitement prevailed among the speculators here this morning when it was announced that the Merchant and Traders' Produce exchange had assigned. At 9:30 o'clock the following notice was put on the blackboard:
Owing to the course of the markets the past few days, and our inability to cover deals in Chicago, this office has been forced to make an assignment. We have suspended only temporarily. A statement of condition will be made as soon as possible.

This corporation trades in stocks, grain and oil from $10 up into the thousands. It was far the largest of the kind in the south and did an immense business. Besides an extensive local trade the house had correspondents at the following cities who take trades for them: Rome, Ga., Chattanooga, Gadsden, Ala., Memphis, Clarksville, Tenn, Pulaski, Columbia, Shelbyville, Birmingham and Huntsville, Ala. Hopkinsville and Bowling Green, Ky.; Gala-tin, Milan, Murfreesboro and Knoxville. Their assignment affects the people not only all over Tennessee, but a great part of the an over tennessee, but a great part of the south.

The stockholders, Messrs. Hugh McCrea, A. R. Duncan, Isaac Reese and B. Lanier, this morning executed to W. L. Granberry a general deed of assignment for the benefit of their creditors. Mr. McRea is in Australia, but is mentioned in the deed. Mr. Lanier assigned, in addition to his interest in the house, real estate, money, notes, etc.—the others nothing except their interest in the house. The deed of assignment is to be valid whether it should be decided that the exchange operated within the limits of its charter or to have been merely a partnership.

Mr. Granberry said that it was impossible to state the exact amount of liabilities and assets, but thought the assets would not exceed $100,-000 and the liabilities would be about $100,000. Said Mr. B. Lanier in regard to the failure:

said Mr. B. Lanier in regard to the failure:

"The house has experienced some very heavy losses lately. On Tennessee coal we lost $400,-000, over $100,000 in cash and $300,000 due to depreciation in the stock. We were carrying for ourselves, and for friends, 21,000 shares of Louisville and Nashville: This stock has depreciated about eight or nine cents, causing us to lose over $100,000. We could have stood these losses without injury to our justiness. to lose over $100,000. We could have stood these losses without injury to our business, had it not been for the fact that owing to the recent action of the Chicago board of trade it has been most difficult to get Chicago quotations and impossible to cover in Chicago, as has been our usual custom, so we have been forced to carry all trades in grain and pork. In the past few days wheat has jumped from 78 to 90, and pork from $3 to $5 a barrel, oats and corn from two to three cents per bushel. These advances have caused us to suspend, but we hope to make a better showing than present conditions would indicate."

THE POLICE COMMISSIONERS. A Short Meeting Held Last Night-Reports

Read.

There was a short session of the board of police commissioners held last night.

Chief Comolly's report for the month was read and approved. The principal item was that there were 1,044 cases made in Marchmore than were ever made before during the history of the department.

Commissioner Brown read the report of the committee that visited New York to investigate the merits of the Gamewell police alarm. Mr. Gamewell was present, and intended to address the meeting, but was not very well, and the fact that Chairman English is in New York, caused the board to postpone further action until the next meeting.

Mr. Brown's report was very favorable toward the introduction of the system into the department of this city.

No cases were tried, and nothing more of interest was done.

DEMOREST HOME, MINING AND IMPROVEMENT CO DEMOREST, HABERSHAM COUNTY, GEORGIA. - - - - 62 SOUTH BROAD STREET TRE S., A. AND M. GOING ON TO-

tt the Macon and Birmingham—C Machen's Road—Guntersville to Port Royal,

It is believed now that the Savannah, Amerleus and Montgomery are going to commence the actual construction, within a few weeks of an extension from Sterling-their present eastern terminus, where they meet the Eden extension of the Central-on to Darien. Things certainly look that way now.

The benefit the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery would be two-fold. In the first place a line of their own to the sea coast would put them in a condition to dictate terms to the Central's extension. Then the extension would pay as an altogether separate investment, opening up a heavily timbered country and giving control of a valuable territory.

Already the Americus Investment company has bought rights-of-way from land owners above the Ohoopee, and as far as Reidsville, the county seat of Tatnall. At Reidsville depot facilities have been purchased, it is said, from H. J. Lee and others, and from Reidsville the agents of the investment company left in the direction of Beard's creek, the di viding line between Tatnall and Liberty coun ties, taking rights-of-way as they went along. Rights-of-way, it is said, are now being secured in Liberty county to Walthourville. They have also bought 500 acres of ground in the imme diate vicinity of the junction of the America road with the Savannah and Western.

This route is much the same as that projected by the Darien Short Line. It will be remembered that President Walker of the Darier Short Line contemplated pushing the short line up to Sandersville, intersecting the Savannah Americus and Montgomery somewhere about

The Hinesville Gazette says: There seems to be great activity in the proposed road, which we are at a loss to designate. It may be the Sterling extension or the Darien Short Line extension. Colonel Hawkins, the president of the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery railroad, who by the way is a man who keeps his own counsel, appears to be aiming for deep water. It is said that the right-of-way from Sterling to Reidsville has been secured and ground for a depot purchased at that point, and preliminary survey towards Beard's creek begun. Of course the presumption must be that a connection with the Darien Short Line is sought after. There is a surveying party of the Darien Short Line on the line from Joselyn toward Reidsville, not far from Gum Branch church at this time.

About Colonel Machen's Road. Colonel Machen said recently in reply to an inquiry about the building of the Middle Georgia and Atlantic, that it is expected to complete the entire line of 252 miles from Atlanta to Savannah, within twelve months. and he explained that railroad building now, with improved machinery, is not what it used to be, and he added that the Middle Georgia and Atlantic road, is to be built as they build roads in the west, with all the vigor and construction that improved facilities enable the work to be done.

General Manager McEvoy said that he is not apprised of any arrangement between his line and the South Bound where it will use the South Bound's terminal facilities. He said that as matters now stand the Middle Georgia and Atlantic is an independent venture and is seeking its own terminus here. The capital is behind it to push it forward, and he believes that the entire distance, 232 miles, will be laid with heavy seventy-pound gun steel rails within the time specified.

Through Georgia to Savannah.

An official of the road is quoted as saying: An official of the road is quoted as saying:
"Our people have been very anxious for a long time to get a direct outlet to the sea.
Last year surveys were made from Birmingham to Brunswick and Savannah with a view to building an extension. The line, as located, passes through LaGrange and Macon in pretty much over the route now being followed by the Magon and Birmingham."

It is generally believed that the Kansas

It is generally believed that the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham is largely interested in the building of the Macon and Birmingham, and since the latter company has arranged to build a line from Macon to Savannah, the construction company having been formed this week, thus forming a direct and independent line from Birmingham to Savannah, there is every reason to suppose a deal is pending between the Kansas City people and the Macon company. Chief Engineer Elliott has been figuring around (Savannah and Macon for some time, and although the officials decline to talk, something is up. The and Macon for some time, and although the officials decline to talk, something is up. The Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham people work very quietly. It is a settled fact that they are going to the Atlantic soon, and as they have failed to make proper traffic arrangements with the Central, their only two chances seem either to pool with the Macon and Birmingham or build an independent line of their own.

Guntersville to Port Royal. It is stated authoritatively that the money is in hands now to begin work on the longtalked-of air line from Guntersville to Port

It begins to look like the line will be built. A Fort Payne gentleman is quoted as authority for the statement that Colonel Rice has just returned from England where he secured the necessary funds to build the road. The charter has already been obtained and the right-of-way secured along the entire route. Surveyors are to be placed in the field at once and work actively commenced. The road will cross the Queen and Crescent at Fort Payne. If the road is built it will come through At-

Ten More Men to Meet the Onslaught—Words for Use and Words for Ornament.

How many people there are who can't spell. The spelling bee is likely to inaugurate a much-needed reform in orthography. Every time one is held people get to studying the rules, and a great many individuals who never spelled before are initiated into the wondrous ways of the English language. It is impossible to frame a set of rules that will cover such a composite tongue with a half dozen older languages struggling in it for supremacy.

But for the large majority of words in common parlance, the rules will fortify us. As for those hardened and impertinent words that flock by themselves like proper names, they do not dama a man with disgrace, even when he misspells them.

There are some men who think such ponderous thoughts that they only want words strong enough to make a scaffolding for their ideas, while there are others so poor in ideas that they have to string together a lot of words like beads on a necklace—to be looked at. Others still, have ideas so like gunpowder in pyrotechnic form, that they only want a few long arrow-like words to feather their sky rockets.

Then there are the jaw-breaking scientific words, alleged to have been derived from the rockets.

Then there are the jaw-breaking scientific words, alleged to have been derived from the Greek, but really emanations from his Satanic majesty. They commit the crime of estranging the children of men from their mundane mother, whose loveliness is always apparent until it is made hideous by the barborous lingo of science.

All these classes of words, and many more, All these classes of words, and many more, the library committee propose to introduce at the proper occasion; but they are free to confess that they are not partial to the last named lingo, and will not draw upon it much until the necessity for heavy ordnance becomes apparent. Then such words as Dichlorotetrahydroxybenzene will be unlimbered. To fire off such heavy pieces of orthography Dr. Hopkins will require the assistance of three elocution sergeants and a whole battery of artilerists.

The committee has been remarkably successful in securing a formidable array of talent with which to meet the wordy onslaught.

Judge James A. Anderson came in yesterday along with Messrs. Jacob Haas, W. L. Calhoun, A. F. Cooledge, W. H. Patterson, Israel Jonas, J. L. Logan, Jr., J. M. Slaton, Alex Meyer and Mr. Chess Howard. These ten swell the list to sixty-four, and before the week is out the committee will have a hundred of the most prominent men.

The Bed-Ridden Restored to Health by Mag-

Yesterday a reporter called at the pariors of Dr. Evans, the magnetic physician, 34 N. Forsyth street, to investigate that strange man's wonderful power over disease. The first person interviewed was Mr. S. Booth, who stated that he resided at 60 Foundry street and was employed with the Winship Machine company. After introducing us to his wife, who was present, he said that over one year ago his wife was stricken down helpless and had been completely bedridden and as helpless as a babe ever since, not being able to turn herself in bed from nervous exhaustion, weak spine and female diseases, displacement, etc. He said that the other physicians had exhausted their skill in her case without the least benefit. So he concluded to call on Dr. Evans and see if he could persuade him to visit his wife, which the doctor kindly consented to do. He visited her late in the evening and gave her a magnetic treatment, which so far restored her that she arose from her bed the next morning and walked around the room, and in a few days she was able to take a carriage and visit the doctor at his office. She has visited him hereat his office, said Mr. Booth, this makes the third time, and is now quite a well woman, as you see, requiring only a little more time to build up her wasted, and exhausted system, and we would be pleased to have anyone who so desires to call on us and learn for themselves the apparent miracle Dr. Evans has wrought on her.

There were about seyen hundred in line. Hon. Albert Howell was marshal of the day. As they filed into the church and filled pew after pew, it was an imposing sight.

The sermon was a notable one. Rev. J. B. Hawthorne, the eloquent pastor of the church, went deep into the beautiful dectrine of the orders, "Freedom, Friendship and Charity." He rehearsed the history and growth of this and other benevolent organizations, and his sermon was listened to with earnest attention by the great congregation of the noble order of Red Men, who were delighted with it.

Scene—First Dinner to the Family Physican by Young Married Couple.

Family Physician—Do you know, there seems to be a natural flavor about this food the is most appetizing? What method do you use in cooking it?

Lady Of the House—Well, Doctor, when I was at home, my mother would have no observed than a Charter Oak Stove. From my earliest recollection I remembered how she would praise it, and her cooking was superb. So when we were married I insisted on having the sawkind of stove. Of course the improvements made on them since mother bought hers, are may wonderful. Ours has all the latest, including the Wire Gauxe Oven Doors. I don't understand the process exactly, but they tell me that all meats cooked in ovens with the doors, retain their juices and flavors to a much greater degree than by any other means. Coyou explain the theory, Charles?

CHARLES (the Husband)—I can't remember all that was told me, but I know the Doctor angive a most clear and scientific statement of the reasons, can you not Doctor?

DOCTOR—Well, It is hardly professional to ask such information from a doctor; in fast I am inclined to think he would not be helping his practice much by saying anything in favor of the Charter Oak Stoves. But as I have one in my kitchen, and know something about I I think I can enlighten you. Of course it would take quite a long lecture to explain everything to you scientifically, and we have not time for that. Count Rumford an American, who was Knighted in Europe for his scientific attainments, pointed out, nearly a hundred years ago, the baking and roasting meats in air tight ovens was wrong, and he proved it by actual experiment. He asserted that it was as essential to health that our food should be cooked in pure, fresh as as that we should be reathe pure, fresh air, and that air-tight ovens reader the air impure, say the food cooked therein became tainted and unhealthy. But how to properly ventilate the own was not discovered for many years after Count Rumford's time. The difficulty was to allo fresh in t

PIEDMONT DIRECTORS.

THEY HOLD A MEETING AT THE GROUNDS.

Great Improvements Which Have Beer Made Since Last Year-Other Changes Which are Contemplated.

The board of directors of the Piedmont Exposition company visited the grounds yesterday for the first time this year.

The members of the board were notified to meet at the artesian well at 4 o'clock, and promptly at that hour an open car stopped there for the purpose of conveying them to the prounds.

President Wylie was on hand, and when he gave the order to start the following gentlemen gave the order to start the following gentlemen were on the car: Major John A. Fitten, Mr. Donald Bain, Mr. Ed Peters, Hon. Frank Rice, Mr. W. A. Gregg, Mr. P. H. Snook, Mr. D. O. Dougherty, Mr. B. B. Crew and Mr. W. M. Dickson, who, however, left the party at his own house. Judge Newman joined the party shortly after the start.

At the grounds the party was joined by Mr. Clark Howell and Dr. B. F. Walker. The trip to the grounds was passed in recalling reminiscences of the former expositions and telling funny incidents until one of the gentlemen spoke of Mr. Grady, and mentioned the fact last year when the board visited the grounds Mr. Grady was the life of the party. A perceptible sadness fell over the party, and the rest of the trip out was taken up with stories of Mr. Grady's public spirit and generosity even to those he knew but slightly. IN THE GROUNDS. As soon as the grounds were entered the great improvements which have been made since last year were perceptible to the members of the board and were freely commented

Captain Wylie's, however, far from sat's ded. He explained at the entrance where the Peachtree street cars stop, that he wished to cut the hill down, which slopes at that point quite sharply, until it is some eighteen inches lower. The earth taken away would go to fill up a hollow space at the side of the hill, and then an even series of terraces down to the race track will he formed.

After consenting to the change, the direc-tors went to the grand stand and then they fully realized all that has been done. SOME OF THE CHANGES.

The unsightly red hills which last year stretched to the left of the grounds have completely disappeared and green banks, which will be topped when the exposition opens with white cotton fields have taken their place.

Another great improvement is in the land around which the race track circles. Where all was rough broken ground there is now per-fect smoothness. The inequalities have been leveled off and the land will be sown with Kentucky blue grass and bermuda grass. A thirty-foot drive will also be made bordering the inside rail. This will be done in order to give people who wish to witness the races from their carriages an opportunity of doing so without having to alight.

Continuing their inspection the board found that where the branch which emptied into the lake in front of the main building formerly ran, another alteration was in process. A big pipe, capable of supplying the lake with water from the other side of the hill, has been laid down and the branch has been filled up. A cross road will also be made, which will unite the road running round the race track with the road which runs to the side of the branch. AT THE CLUB HOUSE.

After visiting the buildings and agreeing to several other proposals made by Captain Wylie, the directors returned to the club house, and seated on the veranda, with the beautiful panorama of the grounds stretched out before them, they discussed the situation.

Among other changes, it was proposed to use the carriage shed, which has recently been built, for a bowling alley, and build another shed at the back. It was also decided to remove the high fence which gives the club house the air of a prison, and replace it with a picket fence not so unsightly, but still of sufficient height to keep out intruders.

MORE MEETINGS TO COME.

The road at the side of the club house where a new gate is to be placed is now a foot higher than the club house grounds. Senator Frank Rice was asked to see the city engineer and request him to cut the road down about eighteen inches, so that the water will drain off the grounds instead of into them. It was after 6 o'clock when the directors boarded their car to return to the city. President Wylie stated that in future he would hold a meeting of the board every month at the grounds. The prospect seemed to give general satisfaction.

Owing to the meeting of the board at the grounds nothing was done yesterday by the committees appointed to solicit contributions. Today, however, they will begin work in earnest, and they expect to secure liberal assistance. FOR WIFE-BEATING.

A Negro Who Struck His Wife With a Flat Iron.

Yesterday morning there was quite an alarm raised in an alley, near Packard street.
Will Davis, a negro, had a falling out with his wife, and struck her several times with a sad iron, cutting some ugly gashes in her head. Davis ran off after he had beaten his wife into insensibility, and escaped.

Ward Physician Dr. Green attended the woman and found her suffering a great deal from her wounds. She is seriously and per-haps fatally hurt. The police department has a description of Davis, but so far he has not been caught, nor is there any clue to his idenmade that he corrected many abuses and reduced the death rate greatly.

Without detracting in the slightest from Dr.

Westmoreland's splendid record and his able services as physician of the penitentiary, I desire to state, in justice to others, that the records do not show this statement to be true. Before he was appointed, and when only Governor Colquitt, Colonel Towers and myself gave orders to the resident physician, lessees and bosses in charge of the various camps, the death rate was reduced at one time to three-fourths of one per cent. We did not hope to hold it at that rate, which is decidedly less than that in cities and towns where the sick have every comfort that can be had. Under the law a physician was appointed to direct the local doctors in charge of the camps and the death rate began to increase, and has never been as low seit. and the death rate began to increase, and has never been as low as it was during Governor Colonitt's term as governor

I submit this as a fact, and it certainly does not reflect on Dr. Westmoreland's ability, for no man, however able, can treat cases of sickness intelligently, when they are 200 miles away. The law now is that the penitentiary physician shall reside at the camp, but as there is more than one camp, he is allowed to reside at the capital and to visit the camps frequently to see how those under his charge are doing. While vising one camp, a dozen could die in another, if they depended on him to prevent it.

The reason given by the local doctors and lessees, for the increase of the death rate, is that under the orders sent them by the chief physician they could not have their own way, and they thought it their duty to obey all orders given them by the property authority, and when the governor called on the local physicians about the increase in the death rate he was shown the rules, and complaints made that the lessees and their doctors did not carry out orders, when the fact is the resident physician here may not have seen the camps, or some of them, in twelve months, and sometimes not that often.

I write this simply in justice to others who have been charged with the great responsibility of looking after the health of the convicts. Respectially.

MASONS TO MEET.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR CONCLAVE AT ROME.

The Atlanta Delegates and Others Which Leave for Rome Today and Tomorrow.

The Grand Commandery of Knights Templar in the state of Georgia, will convene in annual conclave in Masonie hall in Rome, Ga., on Wednesday, 16th instant, 12 o'clock m. Subordinate commanderies from all parts of the state will reach Atlanta Wednesday morning early, and take a special train, which has been provided by the East Tennessee road, which will leave the city at 7:15, putting the Sir Knights in Rome in time to participate in the parade escorting the grand commandery from the hotel to the Masonic temple.

The conclave of the grand commandery will consume the greater part of two days, and on the afternoon of Thursday the members, with their ladies, will be given a delightful excursion on the river.

Cœur de Lion commandery, of Atlanta, will leave this afternoon on the Rome express, and any who cannot go then will take the East Tennessee train tomerrow morning.

One of the most interesting occasions, follow ing immediately upon the grand conclave, will be a special session, which is to be held in Masonic hall on Thursday night, by Yaarab Temple, Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. At this session there will be a large number of Knights Templar received into this Arabic order. The Nobles will be assisted in their work by several visiting officers of distant temples, the most prominent being Illustrious Noble George F. Buss, potentate of Saladin temple, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Yaarab temple is now fully equipped with handsome tobes and other paraphenalia for conferring this Arabic order in grand style, and it is said a treat is in store for all who have the courage to traverse the hot sands. If there should be sufficient time, the nobles of the Mystic Shrine will have a parade through the streets of Rome some time Thursday, when they will appear in full evening dress and fez, which is, beyond doubt, the most elegant uni-form, so to speak, of any secret order.

How to Buy Cigars.

Is it more profitable for a retail dealer in cigars to buy from the manufacturer than from the jobber? This is a vital question for every retailer to consider.

We have saved our customers the jobber's prifit for the last six years. This accounts partly for the steady increase of the demand for our fine Havana cigars which equal in taste, flavor and Spanisn workmanship the best imported from Cuba, and they give entire satisfaction, for Atlanta's prominent men have been our steady customers ever since we established our factory.

We sell to the retail trade at wholesale price in quantities of one box and upward. We guarantee our goods and ship them to any place in the country. And we are willing at any time to take the goods back and refund the money if they do not turn ont to be as werepresent them. The buyer runs, therefore, no risk at all.

There are many smokers who pay high prices for cigars which do not satisfy their taste. Let them call at our factory and get their money's worth, or write to

The Street Committee. The street committee.

The street committee convened in call session yesterday in the city engineer's office. The call for the meeting was issued upon the request of Mr. Joel Hurt, who appeared before the body. Mr. Hurt wanted some work passed up in Inman park, and presented his case to the committee. The petition will be taken before the general council.

WE HAVE THREE VERY DESIRABLE We places on West Peachtree, one improved, and two vacant corner lots.

Have some of the most beautiful lots in grove fronting east on Jackson street, with belgian block, sewage, water and gas, to be placed this summer, that are in the city. We say this deliberately, with a clear conscience. These lots are only offered to those who contemplate building. We have two beautiful lots on Angier avenue, 60 feet front, 210 feet, close to the Boulevard, at the low price of $1,000. These will do to buy and hold for six months, with an assurance of a profit. We have a beautiful 5-room cottage on the Boulevard, with water, sewage, gas; large lot. From it you have a beautiful view of the city; price $3,500. If you want to buy, come and see. If you want to sell, be sure and give us a call. With three horses and buggies at our command, we can readily and willingly show anything on our list.

THE LETTER.

OAKDALE, Ga., April 3, 1890.—Dear Sir: Being about the only old ex-confederate now in the Georgia penitentiary, and learning that you are taking an active part in getting up the grand reunion of old ex-confederates in Atlanta, April 28th, I desire to ask your assistance, and will ever be grateful to you, if you will kindly help me in securing my liberty.

As I told you in the beginning, I am about the only ex-confederate now in prison. I was sent, here for eight years, and have served all of my time with the exception of about twelve months, time with the exception of about twelve months, but my health is now in such a condition, that I am afraid that if I have to remain the full length of my time, I will be unfit for anything when I get

When I was fifteen years of age, I entered Cap-When I was fifteen years of age, I entered Captain H. B. Ridley's command of company, which was of one that composed the Sixth Georgia regiment, Colonel George P. Harrison commander. When the state troops were mustered into regular service, I was too young, so was not allowed to enter with my company. As soon as I became old enough, I entered the Thirty-second Georgia, Captain Cornwell's company. I served in that regiment through the entire war, until the surrender at Greensboro, and never missed an engagement that the Thirty-second Georgia was in. The first regular engagement was at Olustee, Fla., where I was slightly wounded. I was afterwards in the battles of James island, Johns island, Bentonville and Aversboro. When Stoneman's raid went through Georgia, I was at home on sick furlough, and joined the army under Colonel Breckinridge. I was with this command when Stoneman surrundered at Sanshine church. I was also in garrison at Fort Sumter thirteen months, being a sharp-shooter part of the time; was there the night of the evacuation. Now, Mr. vas there the night of the evacuation. Now, Mr Burke, I assure you if you will renderme the assis-tance, I ask, I shall never give you cause to regret having done so. I have been here for several rears, and am now anxious to show to the world that I can and will make a good citizen of my state. I respectfully refer you as to who I am, to Colonel Bacon, of Albany, Ga.; Lieutenant Colonel W. D. Cornwell and Judge Blackwell, of Jasper; Mr. Sam Fulton, of Atlanta, who served through the war with me, and to Mr. E. B. Stanley, who can inform you as to my conduct while here. Let me again beg of you to render me such assistance as you can, and I assure you my whole life shall be devoted to showing you my appreciation and gratitude. Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain very respectfully yours,

D. G. GRIER.

It happened that amongst those pr a guard that had at one time had charge of Grier for two years in the penitentiary. He stated Grier's case substantially as given above, and added that Grier's conduct had been exceptionally good.

"Once before," he said, "Grier was in the penitentiary and was pardoned out." Captain Milledge stated that there is now pending, in the governor's office, an application for pardon in Grier's case.

REFERRED TO A COMMITTEE.

Finally the letter was referred to a commit-tee, consisting of Messrs. Milledge, Landrum and Harbin.

They will investigate the matter thoroughly, and action will be taken on their report at the next meeting of the association.

About Pearline. About Pearline.

Every one knows about Pearline, almost every one uses Pearline, but we wonder if all the house-keepers who use it know half that can be done with it. We wonder if they all know what some of the bright ones have discovered, that those mountains of dishwashing—the greasy pan and kettle—may be reduced to mole hills of the smallest size by the judicious use of Pearline. Fill the roasting pan, as soon as the gravy is poured from it, with cold water, skake in a little Pearline and set on the stove. By the time the rest of the dishes set on the stove. By the time the rest of the dishes are washed, all the grease is dissolved and the pan, can be washed as easily as a plate. Treat the kettle in which anything greasy has been boiled in the same way, and beside clean utensils you will have a clean sink, the use of Pearline rendering it safe to pour such dishwater into it. Sinks regularly treated to a bath of Pearline and scalding water will seldom need the services of a plumber.

Macon and Birmingham Railroad Co., et al., vs. Stamp, et al. Injunction. Railroads. Corporations. Statutes. Constitutional Law. Contracts. Municipal Corporations. Actions. Parties. Jurisdiction. Waiver. Practice. Bleckley, C. J.—A railroad corporation having power by its charter granted in 1888 to locate and construct its road where it may think proper, may, by amendment to its charter made after the company has located but before it has constructed its road, be confined to a particular route on certain prescribed conditions as to a portion of the line through a given county. This results from the reserved power of the state, declared in §51651, 1682 of given county. This results from the reserved power of the state, declared in §$1631, 1682 of the code, to withdraw the franchises or change, modify or destroy the corporation at the will of its creator.

2. The right of the state so to amend the charter is not in any degree abridged or af-fected by executory contracts between the company and a construction company, and between the latter and sub-contractors, touch-ing the construction and equipment of the road. In so far as the amendment may ren-der the performance of these contracts impos-sible the impossibility will result features.

der the performance of these contracts impossible, the impossibility will result from act of law, and performance to that extent will be excused. All parties contracting with a corporation must take notice of the conditions on which it holds its franchises, and of its subjection to the legislative will.

3. Any allowable modification of the charter of a private corporation may be made by amendment adding a provise to one of its sections. The form of the amending act has no influence on its construction or effect.

4. A substantial, not a literal, conformity of a law to its title is required by the constitution.

4. A substantial, not a literal, conformity of a law to its title is required by the constitution. The title indicating that a railroad is to run into and through a named town, and the body of the act providing for running it into and through the corporate limits, or within one mile of the courthouse, on certain conditions, the title covers the matter of the enactment.

5. The amending act under construction does not contemplate that the town of Thomaston shall or may devote municipal funds to the purpose specified, but that the town as a community, or the citizens, may, if they think proper, contribute voluntarily from their private means and thereby raise a duty on the part of the railroad company to comply with part of the railroad company to comply with act.

The citizens of Thomaston have, as a

6. The citizens of Thomaston have, as a class, a special and particular interest in the matter involved in this cause, and can support an action for the protection of that interest.

7. The class being composed of numerous inviduals, some may sue in behalf of all, the interest involved being common to the whole class.

Any objection founded on the non-residence of the principal defendants, in the county, could be waived and was waived if these defendants answered without raising and urging that objection.

9. There was no need for enjoining the mandanus precedings and the injunction granted.

9. There was no need for enjoining the mandamus proceedings, and the injunction granted was, to that extent, improper. Direction is given to modify the injunction accordingly.

10. Under the special circumstances, as a condition of continuing the interlocutory injunction in force after the amount of money necessary to be doposited in bank by the citizens is ascertained, there ought to be bond and security required that the deposit will be made at the proper time. Direction is given that it be so ordered, and that for any failure to camply with the order, the injunction be dissolved.

The Beauty of Health.

The Beauty of Health.

How many women with regular features that might be beautiful, are not, and instead of awakening our admiration only arouse our pity. Their hollow eyes and sunken cheeks and sallow skin haunt our memory. Alas! an invalid wife or mother or sister fils the house with gloom and sadness, and an otherwise happy fireside is shadowed with a pall of regret. Blessed be the physician who has invented a remedy with power to strengthen the female organization, that regulates the delicate functions of feminine life, that relieves those bearing-down pains, that renews the appetite, functions of feminine life, that relieves those bearing-down pains, that renews the appetite, that perfects digestion, that brightens the eyes and beautifies the complexion with the glow of health. Such a remedy is Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla. It is woman's best friend for counteracting the evils that afflict her sex. Thous sands of ladies owe their beauty to a use of this incomparable alterative. Demand it of your druggist. Take no other.—Paris News of bonds of said City, for the purpose of increasing the water supply, of said city, and desire also to issue one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) in bonds, for the purpose of paying the city's proportion of the expense of the construction of sewers in said city, and the assent of the qualified voters of said city being necessary thereto.

Therefore, be it ordained by the Mayor and General Council aforesaid, that in accordance with the Constitution and Laws of said State, an election shall be held on the twenty-third (2ad) day of April, 1890, to determine the question whether said water bonds and sewer bonds, or either series of said proposed bonds, shall be issued by said city, and that notice to the people (qualified voters of said city), be published in Thra ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, the paper in which the Sheriff's advertisement of said county are published, and also in The Atlanta Evening Journal, for the space of thirty days next preceding the day of said election as provided by law, said bonds to bear interest at the rate of four per cent. (4 per cent per annum, and to run not exceeding thirty years from the date thereof, the interest to be paid semi-annually, on the first days of January and July of each ferr. Find the principals of said bonds to be fully paid off within thirty years from the date thereof, and water bonds, or either of such series of bonds, is voted by the requisite two-thirds of the qualified voters of said city, then, and before the proposed debt is incurred, an ordinance or ordinances shall be passed providing for the issue and sale thereof, and making provision at the same time for the assessment and collection of annual taxes sufficient in amount to pay the principal and interest of said defit within thirty years from the date of incurring said indebtedness.

But this shall not operate to increase the annual tax on real estate or personal property beyond the charter rate of one and one-half (1½) per centum per annum.

At said election, the voters shall have printed or written on the

At said election, the voters shall have printed or written on their ballots "For Water Bonds," or "Against Water Bonds," and shall also have printed or written on their ballots "For Sewer Bonds" or "Against Sewer Bonds," And each voter may on the same ballot for or against either water bonds or sewer bonds, or for the one and against the other, or for both or against both, or may vote with reference to the one and not vote as to the other, as he may desire.

Said election shall be held as municipal elections in this city are held, and conducted in like manner, and in accordance with sections 508 I to 508 M. inclusive. of the code of the state of Georgia.

I certify that the foregoing preamble and ordinance were adopted by the mayor and council of the city of Atlanta on March 17, 1820, and concurred in by the aldermanic board on the same day, and approved by the mayor of said city on March 18, 1850.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange. NEW YORK, April 14.—The stock market to day was stronger and more active than usual of late, and a material improvement was made in all portions of the list. T.e great feature of the day was the improvement in the western railroad sitation, and the growing feeling that an early settlement of the difficulties among the contending roads in that section are near a satisfactory solu-tion. It was at first reported that everything had been settled, and the shorts went into cover, Ehowing that they are not by any means confident of their position, and the bulls took hold with more view than has been seen on the long side for weeks, taking the market away from the bears, and the probability is that notwith tanding the materia ise in prices brought about that short interests has been very little reduced by the day's opera-tions. The rise in the early portion of the day was resisted with considerable force, but the

The upward movement in prices was practically uninterrupted, and only in the last hour was there anything like a halt. A report that all roads had agreed to restore freight rates to the Missouri river gave rise to another stimulus toward noon, the stocks to which there has been most marked selling of late being the most conspicuous in the rise-Rockland, Missouri Pacific, Burlington, St. Paul and Lackawanna were most prominent in the dealings, and in those shares the most important movements were made, the rest of the list being comparatively quiet within narrow limits, although the entire market participated in the improvement. Among the specialises there were upward and sudden movements, and bituminous coal shares led in that respect, both Tennessee and Colorado Coal showing marked improvement at the close, though the former was dull. Manhattan was strong on reports of large earnings, and Jersey Central and New England were higher on inside Luying and small business. The unlisted depart-ment was comparatively neglected, although there was more business done in it than usual of late. The market, after an effort to resist the unward movement, closed, showed no change in its temper, and finally closed quiet but steady to firm and generally at but a shade under the bost figures, some realizing in the last liour, sagging the stronger stocks off a little. It was freely stated upon the street today that J. Pierre-pont Morgan's departure for Europe lately had for one of its objects the placing of about $40,000,-000 of the various railroad bonds on the foreign markets. Money worked satisfactorily through-out, and notwithstanding the low state of bank receipts and the demand for leans, rates on calls got cnly as high as six per cent and closed at 3½ bid. The list is invariably higher tonight, and Tennessee Coal is up 2½; Colorado Coal 2%; Jersey Central 1½; Manhattan 1½; Big Four 1½, and New England 1 per cent. NEW YORK, April 14—[Special.]—Spinners have entered the market in Liverpool apparent? In earnest, taking 12,000 bales at an advance of i-led in the quotations for middling, and, although the bulls took advantage of the demand to ridize, the quotations were fairly sustained. Our market opened steady at an advance, became firm, and, despite the the tone of the Liverpool market at the close, maintained a greater portion of the advance. The receipts were larger than anticipated, causing some selling to secure prefits, but the understone was very ateady, sustained by the knewlesses.

edge that a line of 10,000 bales of our stock would be exported before the end of April. Grave ap-prehens ion is felt by our merchants as to the reprehens ion is felt by our merchants as to the result of the Butterworth bill now before congress, the terms of which will prevent any sales of cotton for delivery in advance of the receipt from plantation, as its passage will lead to complete demoralization of the present methods of doing business. Exporters today are withholding from purchasing the distant positioms, fearing fine and imprisoment if the law passes. In this event both exporters and spinners would be unable to make arrangements for their future supply of cotton. While the temper of the market is again bullish this uncertainty unsettles opinions. Receipts at New Orleans are estimated at 1,000 bales.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, April 14.—Wheat active, and all the months, May June and July, shared in the activity, though the interest is shifting into July, and a greater part of the trading centered in this month. Speculation was again wild and fluctuations in prices rapid and violent, and reached a higher point than has yet been touched on the up turn The feature of the market today was the varying difference between the different futures, and the selling of July close to May. June ranged from the same to 3/c premium, and also sold at 3/c discount. July sold early at 565/40 discount below May, and later 6/4/c discount was made, but gradually improved, selling to within 23/c of May price, and closed at 1½c discount. The opening for May was 1½63½c higher, and July 1@2c higher. May sold up ½c more and then broke off 4c and closed 1½c higher. July sold off 1½c and then advanced 3c and closed about 3%c higher than Saturday The highest point reached today shows 1334c advance from the lowest point reached some two months ago, and July advanced 1234c in the same period. Speculation of course had everything to do with the advance today, and shorts, thoroughly frightened again, commenced to cover, and there was considerable excitement at various intervals. There has no doubt been active buying of May to cover shorts, and at the same time, while there was a good deal of July sold, the later market developed active buying for that future. Outside busi ness was very large, and there is no denying that country is trading heavily. Foreign advices were of a favorable tenor, quotiag higher prices and firm markets. Corn-There was an immense business today the volume of trading heavier than at any time in the late advance. The feeling was decidedly stronger, and transactions were at considerably higher prices, with May and July receiving the most at tention. The speculative market opened active and excited at an advance of 4c over Saturday's closing prices, and under an urgent general de mand from shorts advanced quietly ½c, but at the top New York receivers and local longs sold freely and prices reacted to about opening quotations. More outside buying orders then came on the market, and prices sold up %@%c, ruled easier and closed 1/20%c better than Saturday. There was more doing on outside account than any day in works

Oats were fairly active and unsettled. Opene firmer and 1/40% higher, May and July advanced 1/40 more, reacted and declined 1/40% taler a stronger feeling developed and prices advanced 1/40%, but the market steady at a net gain of 1/40 over Saturday's closing. Mess pork-Quite an active business was trans. acted early, but the market was considerably un-settled. Offerings were not very large and the de-mand was rather urgent, The opening sales were nade at 50@75c decline on Saturday's figures, bu quickly advanced $1.00@1.25 with moderate trading at the advancing scale. Later prices receded 75c@$1 and closed comparatively steady.

Lard—A rather good trade was reported, and the feeling was stronger. The opening sales were made at 5.27% advance and a further improve-ment of 7.2@10c was quickly gained. Later the feeling was easier, and prices receded 2%25c and closed comparatively steady.

Short rib sides—Quite a good trade was reported, and the feeling was decidedly stronger during the early part of the day. The opening sales were made at 5@81/c advance, and was quickly followed by a further appreciation of 71/@121/c. Later the demand slackened somewhat and prices receded 81/2010c, and the market closed rather firm.
